Celebrate: (sĕlə-brāt), v., To demonstrate satisfaction in by festivities or other deviation from routine. Every day at Foothill was a celebration. Students and teachers went all out on academic excellence, striving to reach the highest standards. The incomparable FHS spirit soared to new heights with outstanding support of activities, rallies, and the athletic teams. Fun and friendships easily mixed, and special memories were created that will be enjoyed for a lifetime. 1987 at Foothill was a celebration in every meaning of the definition.

Bye Bye Summer — School's In Session

As the sun-filled days of summer began to drift away, it came time to return once again to school. All too soon, that dreaded morning of registration had arrived. Seniors and juniors impatiently waited to enter the arena, only to be faced with the frustration that registration always brings. Some left satisfied with their final schedule, others left disappointed, and still others departed with no schedule at all! Everything eventually worked out, though, and all students had some type of schedule by the time that first day rolled around. Wandering wearily from class to class, friendships were renewed and summer vacation stories were shared. It didn't take long for the Mustangs to adapt to the rigorous school schedule that was all too familiar. Freshmen, however, were faced for the first time with the reality of high school, which they eventually became accustomed to. The sophomores returned, relieved to have finished their freshman year and move up to a new status. Juniors came back to school faced with difficult classes, but with anticipation for their nearing senior year. Returning for the last time, seniors were excited, happy, sad, and confused all at the same time! Each student had some reason to celebrate the return to school for the 1987 year.

Orange and Black Attack

Something very black, orange, enthusiastic, and uncontrollably contagious overtook the Foothill campus this year. It was, of course, the mighty Mustang spirit. Students became more involved by participating in morale-boosting activities such as rallies, dress-up days, games and dances. Sporting the orange and black look, the Mustangs took their spirit to the limit. Rowdiness and excitement usually gave way to respectable and somewhat sane craziness. Senior spirit was at its best in 1987, and most evident through their continual domination of the spirit stick. Each class, however, contributed to the unified spirit that everyone was hooked on throughout the school year. Cheering, yelling, and stomping their way to victory, students, not any certain class, but for the entire school, celebrated their one-of-a-kind Mustang spirit.

Friendships to Last a Lifetime

Although high school is an institution for learning, it is also a place where lasting friendships are found. Friends that are made during the four years at Foothill will have a lasting impression on our lives. When school seems to be just too much to handle, friends provide the necessary diversion to ease the tensions. Lunchtime, between classes, and after school are times for doing special things together and making everlasting memories. Through the good and the bad times it is those special friends that will always be there. When the high school years are over and all must part to go their separate ways, the celebratable memories of those special friendships that were formed will always remain.

Style Galore

Fashionable Mustangs Give New Meaning to Chic

Upholding the trend set in previous years, the Mustangs exceeded all boundaries in the fashion scene. Fads from the past were mixed with current styles to create some bizarre combinations. No one style in particular seemed to have dominance. Some chose the casual look, while others selected more elaborate fashions. Accessories consisting of earrings, bracelets, handbags, hats, and watches were a must. Popular brand names including Guess, Forenza, Bugle Boy, Gotcha, Town and Country, Local Motion, and even Reebok made their way into the wardrobes of fashion conscious students. Although some girls opted for short punk hairstyles, longer hair also made a comeback. French braids, pony tails and the use of the banana comb were popular. For the guys, short hair was in. Variations included flat tops, long bleached bangs, patterns shaved on the head, and sometimes even different colored streaks. Use of hair products such as mousses, gels, glazes, hairsprays, and color washes helped to create the styles for both girls and guys. 1987 proved to be a year of celebratable fashion trends.

Lifestyles of The Mustangs

What makes Foothill High School so liveable? Most likely the reason was the outstanding student body. Although the purpose of going to school was to learn, the Mustangs made Foothill a place for fun times too. Student life basically consisted of going to class, going to a locker, taking a break for lunch, and finally going home to tackle homework. Throughout the year, Mustangs could be found studying in the library, hanging around the infamous benches, eating in the lunchroom, and simply just "kicking back" with friends. Realistically though, it would be almost impossible to describe the countless number of lifestyles maintained by the many different students at Foothill. Such a wide variety of personalities and interests made the 1987 year one to celebrate and remember in years to come.

Celebrate Activities

Activities not only gave students a chance to show their school spirit, but also gave them a welcome break from the school regimen. The Mustangs participated in the year's several rallies, assemblies, dances and games. Special activities included Homecoming, Powder Puff Football, and lunchtime competitions and games.

Amazing Animators

The 1986 homecoming floats were created around the theme "The Wonderful World of Animation." The seniors constructed the Walt Disney character "Dumbo," the juniors built "The Jetsons," the sophomores made "Snoopy," and the freshmen were unable to complete a float for the competition. Those Mustangs who were able to complete a float were very creative in their choice of materials. They used pomps, wire, wood, spray paint, card board, and most of all plenty of spirit. The final judging was made by a combination of local merchants and junior high school teachers. The seniors' four years of experience was apparent as they won first prize in the float competition.

Seniors Dominate Powder Puff

From the start of the game, when the seniors drove 55 yards and scored on Holly Ulrey's 12-yard touchdown pass from Tonya Lewis, it was obvious there was going to be a junior massacre. Although putting forth a lot of effort, the juniors were having trouble moving the ball. Three of junior quarterback Elaine Elliott's passes were intercepted by the opposing seniors. By half-time the seniors had rolled up a score of 20-0 and never looked back.

As the second half began, the seniors kicked off to the juniors who could not move the ball. The doomsday defense of the seniors forced the juniors to punt in three plays. Tonya Lewis, Holly Ulrey, and Cathy Brown turned in outstanding offensive performances for the seniors. By the end of the game, the seniors' offense had racked up 25 points while the defense held the juniors scoreless to the end.

Spirit Worth Celebrating

Spirit week and the Homecoming assembly once again provided an exciting diversion for all of Foothill's students. Each day of the week, during lunch, a different activity occurred to amuse and arouse the spirit of students for the Homecoming game against Encina. Each day the student body was encouraged to dress up as a different cartoon character. Monday, "Mickey Mouse Day," a donut eating contest was held. Unfortunally this activity was held only during first lunch because some unworthy soul's hunger got out of hand and took all the donuts. Tuesday the "Balloon Blow Up and Pop" contest was held. Some spirited students dressed green in Gumby style. The "Orange Pass," previously called the "Potato Pass," was held on Wednesday. Several blue faces were seen during the day imitating the lovable Smurfs. And finally the "Toilet Paper Wrap" was held on game day. In order to encourage fans to come out to the game, students were asked to dress in the schools colors. Once again the seniors won a majority of the Homecoming competitions.

At the Homecoming assembly on Wednesday night, several students had the opportunity to showcase their talents. Jason Wharton, Jason Edwards, Greg Scrivner, Jason Vernon, Wayne Bennett, and Robby Jones, as the "Outrightous Brothers," sang their version of "You've Lost That Loving Feeling." This was followed by Morgan Bray and Tony Velasquez doing a rap that turned, more or less, into an inaudible headbanger concert. Derek LaDay performed with Lyndale Hullum singing "Home" from the "Wizard of Oz." Then the night ended with Jamie Lane performing "In the Ghetto," an old Elvis tune.

Most students felt that the Homecoming activities were a huge success, thanks to a job well done by the student council.

Sensational Spirit

As in the past, and at other rallies, the Mustangs flaunted their awesome spirit during the 1986 Homecoming rally. Each class, even the freshmen, participated in the cheerleader-picked competitions, with hopes of becoming the victor. Again, as in the past, the dominating seniors proved to the rest who was the best by taking possession of the much wanted spirit. Even though everyone didn't emerge victorious at the rally, spirits weren't dampened and overall school spirit was carried over to the Homecoming game.

Throughout the game, the Mustangs stampeded over the Encina Apaches leaving their hoofmarks and a score of 51-7 behind them. Jason Edwards, the Mustangs talented senior quarterback, said, "The whole team played a good game. We wanted to impress everyone because it was a league-opener and we were extremely psyched up due to the fact that it was Homecoming." The Mustangs enthusiasm rubbed off on the J.V. team as they, too, defeated the Apaches 46-13.

Celebrating a Royal Evening

On the night of October 17th, the much anticipated homecoming dance took place. Dress varied from fairly casual to formal and a few of the guys even sported tuxedos. Roy Kengi played the hits and the students rocked the night away to the music of FM102. The music varied from slow, romantic melodies to fast upbeat tunes. Some of the rowdier people were induced into "slam dancing." That is, students crashed and smashed into each other, causing many bumps and bruises to be suffered the next day.

Foothill's Royalty was announced as follows: Queen Monique Sicotte and Escort Greg Scrivner. Senior princesses Kim Killman, and Shari Thompson. Escorts Rob Jones, and Joey Souveigner. Junior princess Bobbi Petri and Escort Tony Latino. Sophomore princess Christi Helm and Escort Jack Killman. Freshman princess Kim Jenkins and Escort Marc Dixon.

It's The Spirit That Counts

The Inti-Rami spirit week and assembly proved to be very entertaining to the student body.

The week got off to a thrilling start with many activities designed for the student body's enjoyment. Tuesday, the chin-potato-pass occupied some of the students during their lunch and students were encouraged to dress up as their favorite farm animal. On Wednesday a ring toss activity took place and farm foods were the highlight of this day's dress. Thursday, competitors plunged into Hostess chocolate cream pies for the ever popular pie-eating contest. Students had the option to escape from their normal dress habits, and get geared up in cowboy and Indian duds. Finally, Friday was the traditional black and orange day. All of the classes worked hard trying to obtain the spirit stick for the week, but in the end, the dedicated senior class gained control, as usual.

Thursday night of that same week, the students eager to show their talent, had an opportunity to perform in front of a spirited audience consisting of fellow students and parents. At the beginning of the assembly the royalty was introduced. This was followed by talented performers like Antoinette Jackson, Cora Hullum, and Felica Marsh singing "Now or Never" as a threesome, Kim Clark sang "The Greatest Love of All." Carla Nemeth's edifying version of "Hit Me With Your Best Shot" and "La Isla Bonita" was well received. This was followed by Derek LaDay and Kim Clark, as they sang "Somewhere Out There". Diane Beeken and Bridgette Verner worked hard to synchronize a dance routine to "Conrol". Renae Schafer sang her heart out to "Back On My Feet". Other acts included the Critical Three doing their own rap, and Cora Hullum's enlightning performance of "All at Once". Finally Vince Martini, Jim Burreson, and Lane Elliott's band had students on their feet while performing various songs from popular groups.

Spirit Shines

Inti-Rami is always marked with great enthusiasm and the crowd was wildly enthusiastic in both the game and rally.

The rally, held after school, consisted of mainly a relay race. The race was won by the seniors and the seniors again defeated the underclassmen in spirit competition.

The spirit of the rally carried over to the game that night. Against the Eagles, the Mustangs played a commendable game. The Eagles and the Mustangs were neck and neck throughout the game. In the end, Foothill emerged victorious, 77-70. This victory boosted the Mustangs to a second place standing in CVC play.

Overall, the Inti-Rami game and rally were quite successful and entertaining for everyone. Congratulations to all.

Mustangs Kick Up Their Heels at Western Hoedown

The sky was clear, and the moon was full on Friday the thirteenth, a perfect setting for Inti-Rami '87. The western dance was held in the cafeteria, which was beautifully decorated by student council members. Foothill students arrived in casual western wear. A few couples dressed alike, and competed in the best dressed couple contest. The lucky winning couples received a fresh free stalk of celery. At 11:00 P.M. the ravishing royalty was announced. Eric Vernon was the freshman prince; Bobby Chen sophomore prince; Jason Wharton junior prince; John Downing, Derek LaDay senior princes; and Jack Killman was king.

The music was done by those delightfully daring D.J.'s David Krueger, Brett Cabannis, and Jack Killman. As usual, Kee Coleman was there to capture the moments in living color if the students wanted pictures. The setting for the photos was hay bails, balloons, sparkling stars, and of course, a full moon.

Inti-Rami '87 was a huge success, and for all of those who attended, a memorable occasion.

Equi (é-kwē)

Struggling to meet deadlines and endless hours of writing and cropping are expected in a yearbook class, and the '87 Equi staff proved to be no different. The well-balanced group of writers, designers, artists, and a photographer (Charley Ku), helped to make the yearbook a tremendous success. Editors Deniece Vargas and Maureen McPherson guided the class, which consisted of twelve rookies and four veterans, with hopes for an outstanding book. Deniece Vargas, a three-year veteran and senior editor said, "I was surprised how well we worked together as a staff even though, at the beginning of the year, only four of us knew what we were doing. The twelve rookies proved to be great assets to the staff and I was impressed by their abilities. It was a great honor to be the editor; I think after three years I had waited long enough."

Last summer Denice Vargas, Maureen McPherson, and Julie Tichauer had the opportunity to travel to the University of Santa Cruz to attend Yearbook West, a yearbook camp for seven days. Tricks of the trade were passed on among students from ten different states.

The '87 Equi staff decided to celebrate the year with a theme of, what else, "Celebrate." The color section consisted of balloons, confetti, and fabulous color worth celebrating. We'd like to thank Mr. Stoneking for his invaluable advice and words of wisdom.

What A Paper What A Paper

As in past years, the Hoofbeats staff, under the supervision of Mr. Milton, produced one of the most outstanding high school newspaper around. The dedicated writers worked diligently to bring in the most interesting and news worthy stories to be found on Foothill's campus. Besides the hardships of putting a newspaper together, the staff also had to deal with the agony of rising before the sun. This was due to the fact that the journalism class was held during zero period, which began at 6:50 A.M. Hoofbeats editor Shari Haskell did an outstanding job of making sure that the stories were well written and that the class generally ran smoothly. Working as sports editors, Wayne Bennett and Jason Wharton enjoyed writing about the ups and downs of Foothill's sports teams in action. Thanks to the Hoofbeats staff our lives at Foothill were a little more entertaining and intriguing with an outstanding paper.

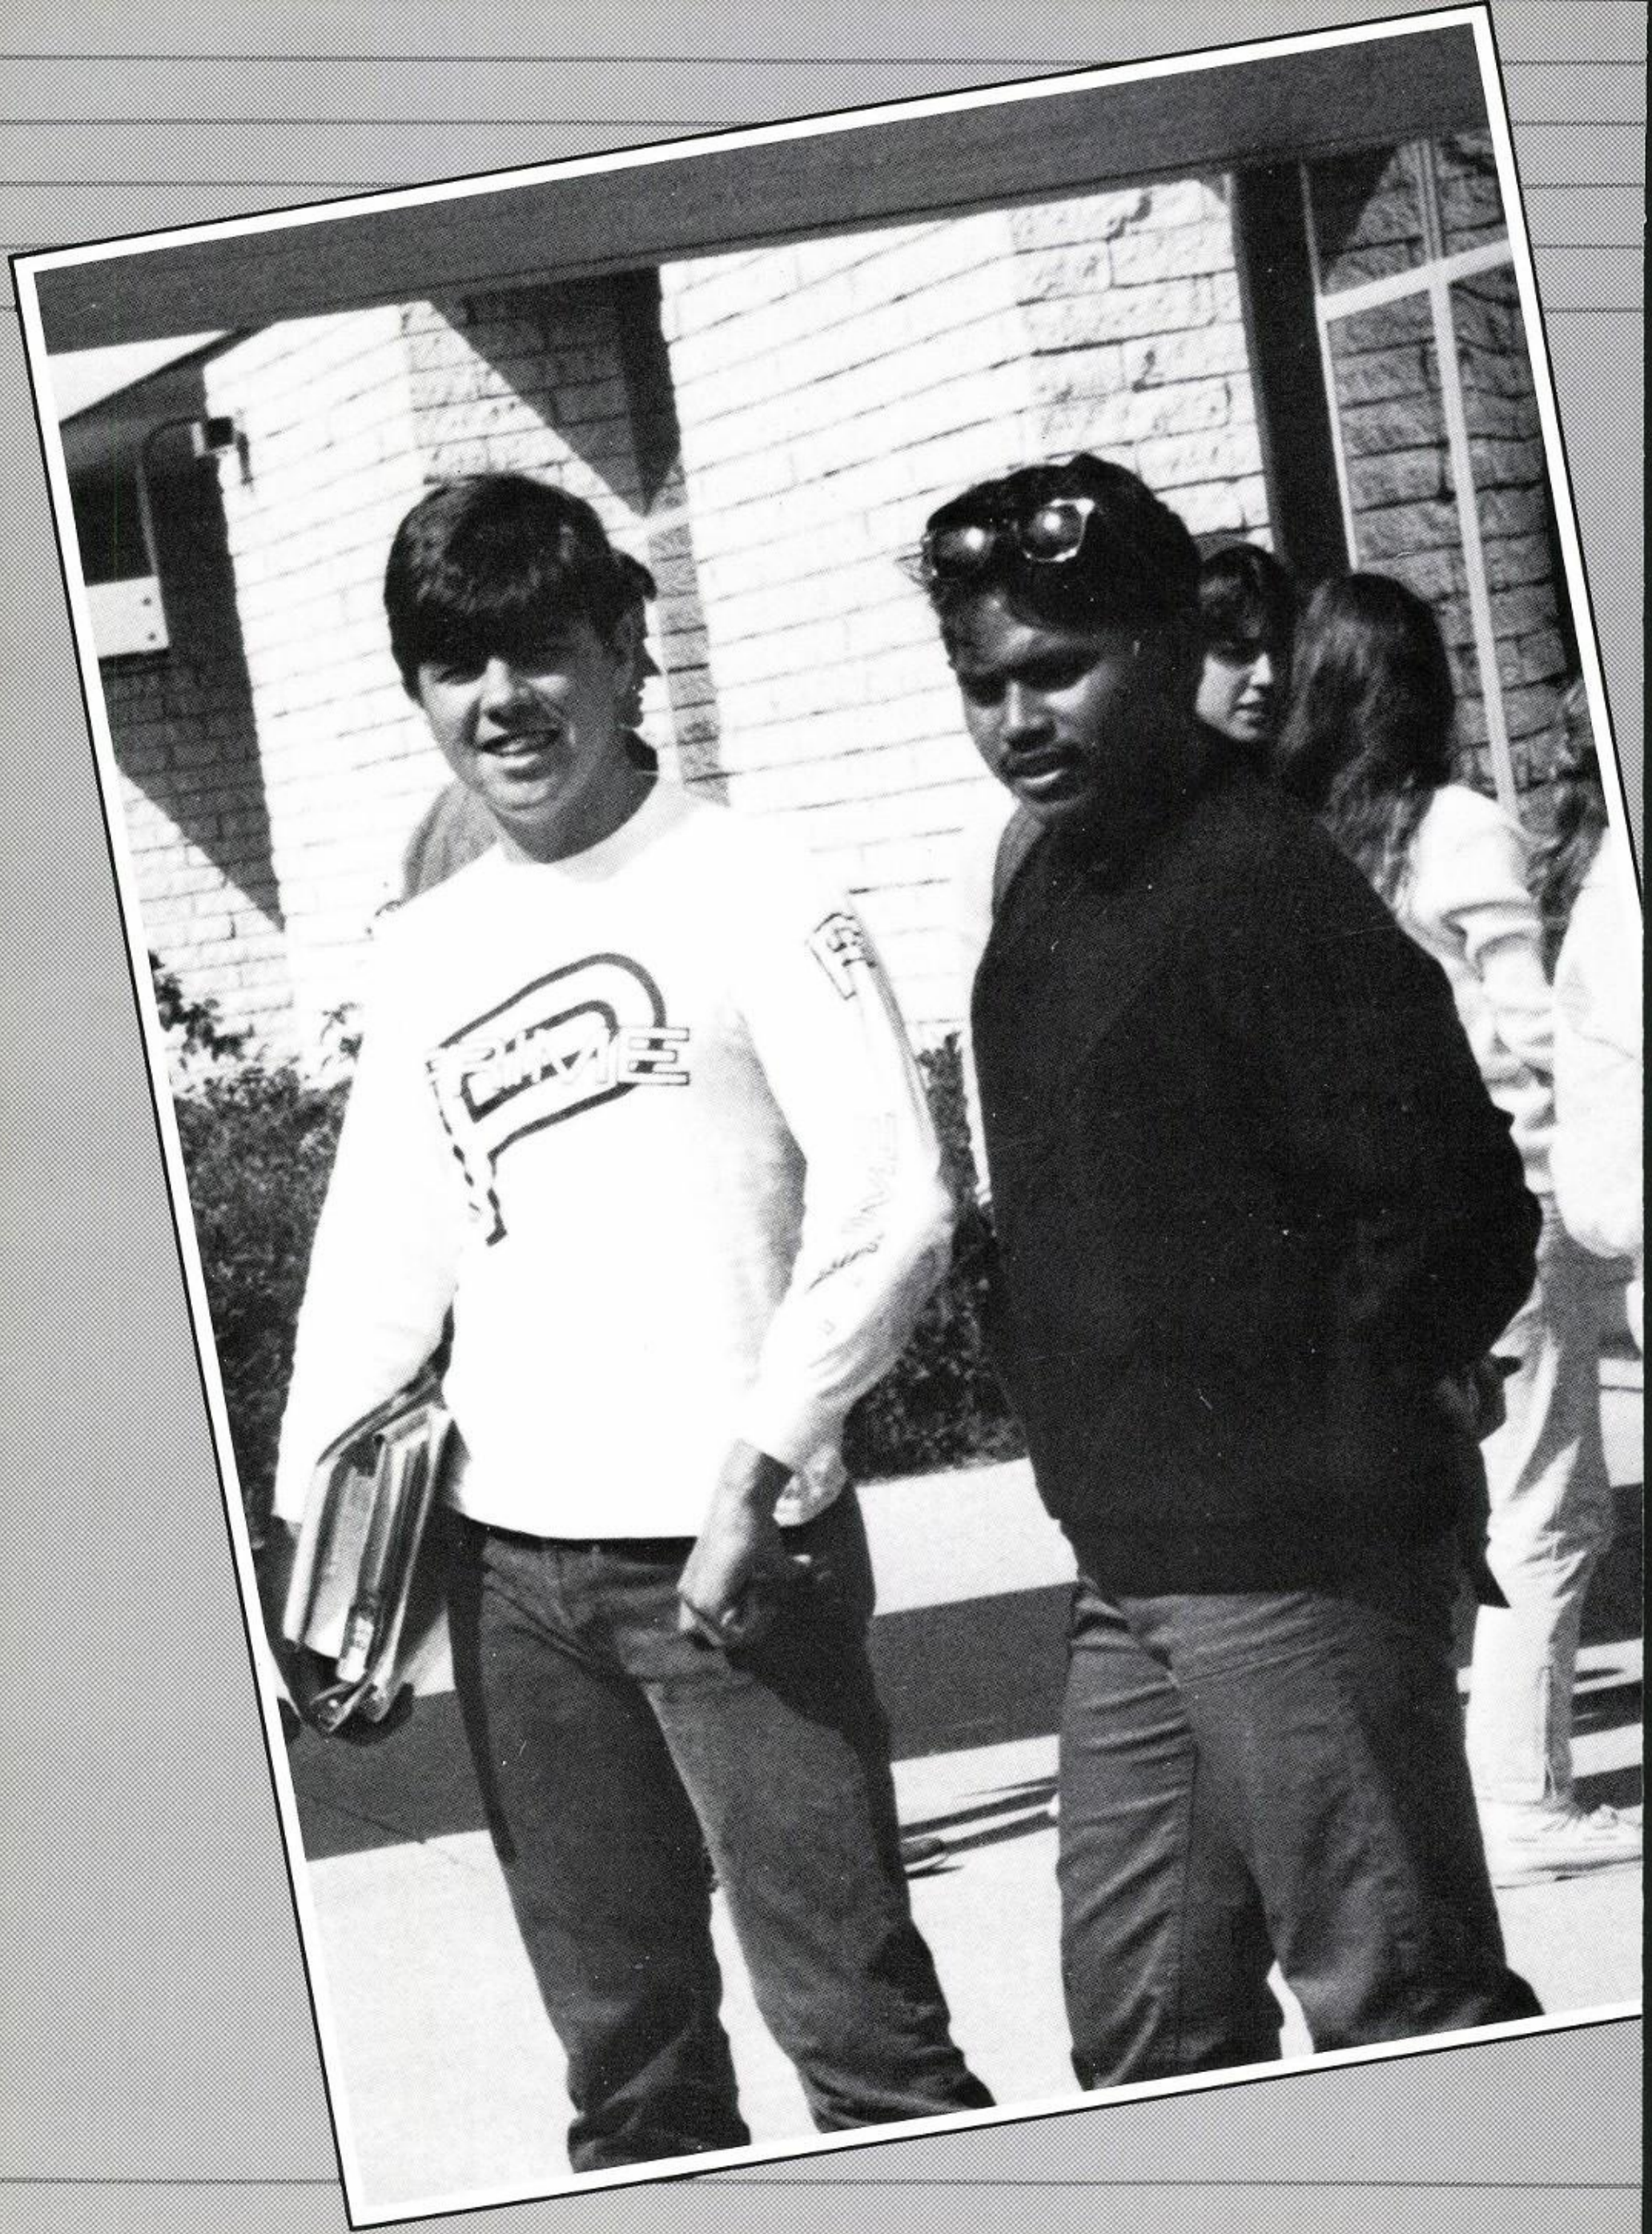
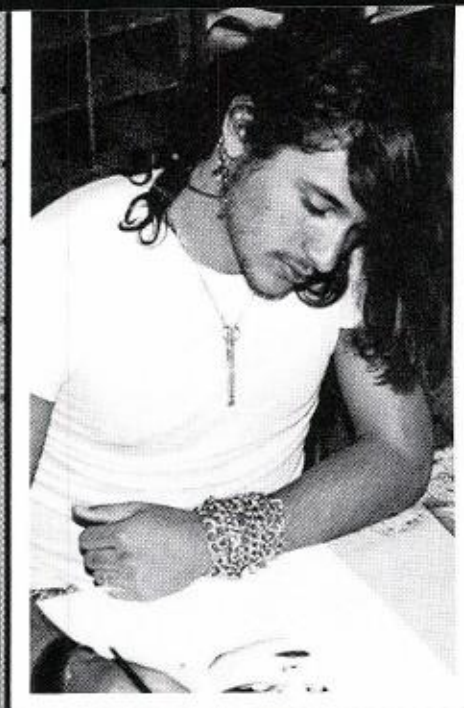
Mustang Spirit Leaders Excel

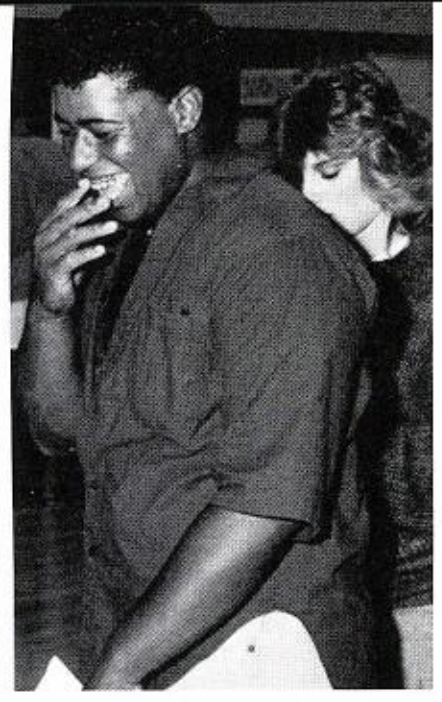
Through long hours of practice, hard work, and dedication, the spirit leaders gave Foothill something to be proud of. Much time and devotion was spent preparing for pep rallies, competitions, and athletic activities. Each routine was carefully worked out and practiced before it was performed before numerous spectators.

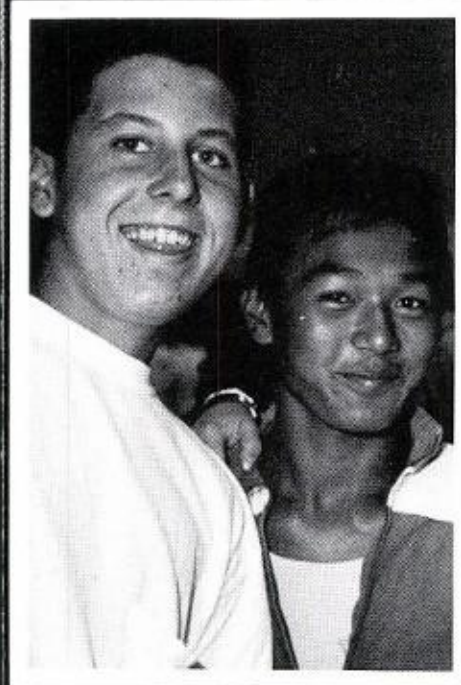
The song and cheer leaders brought the crowd alive during the events with their spirit and energy. Their enthusiasm flowed into the crowd, making the rallies and games much more exciting.

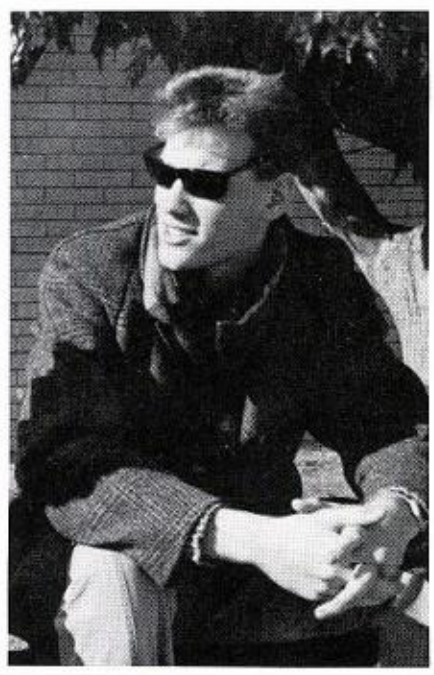
With their exceptional efforts, the spirit leaders expressed the true meaning of pride and spirit at Foothill.











Celebrate Seniors

Our Senior year was filled with hopes, aspirations, dreams, spirit, homework, senioritis, and a degree of uncertainty about the future ahead. But as we took a giant step into the future, we looked back on the past with many treasured memories.

Providing Inspiration

Four years of high school can be a trying experience, and suffering through it without guidance would be like weaving a rope of sand. Fortunately, the Class of 1987 had two outstanding advisors and a remarkable counselor to help them along the way,

Mrs. Stammerjohan and Mr. G. Johnson were the class advisors who organized Powder Puff football teams all four years, supervised at the Senior Ball, and helped with graduation activities.

Mr. Popp went through four years of sometimes screaming students with mixed up schedules and unorganized plans for the future. He assisted in scheduling of classes, making sure that everyone had enough credits to get out of this place, provided college information, and just seemed to have an endless supply of encouragement to give when necessary. He made sure that everyone took all of the required courses, and got us out of those ones that were unbearable.

Now it's time for the Class of 1987 to move on, but not without giving thanks to those who certainly deserve it. Mrs. Stammerjohan, Mr. Johnson, and expecially Mr. Popp, THANK YOU!! We would be on the five-year plan without you!

Celebrate Underclassmen

The Freshmen begin their high school years looking to the future with hope. Sophomores reach with new strength to be the very best they can be. The Juniors work harder than ever, inspired by the coming year. They all work together to form the spirited, knowledgeable, and united group of underclassmen.

Habitats of Homework Look How Far We've Come!

Remember that playful and joyful first year of school known as kindergarten when we kept our homework in cubby-holes? Remember how they were always painted in bright colors? We would ever so carefully place our works of art in them. At least most of us were clean and tidy (girls usually). There were also the little slobbs (boys) who threw their papers in all crumpled up. Well, we've come a long way, baby! We no longer used the term cubby-hole. Now it's a locker! They were not bright and cheerful anymore. Our high school cubby-holes were dirty, stinky, and putrid yellowish-brownish-green. Most people kept their lockers nice and neat. Their books were always put in order from the tallest to the shortest. Never did you see any loose homework that was three months old lying around. But there were still some (and not only boys anymore) whose lockers looked like the town dump. Some even smelled like it. Unlike the juniors, the freshmen had to share their lockers. This was good because the freshmen needed their locker partner to give them a boost so they could reach their lockers. No matter how much we hated them, they were ours.

Parking Lot Blues

This year a new rule was adopted at Foothill. Students were no longer allowed to park on the streets which surround the school campus. This new rule pleased the residents of the school's vicinity, but on the other hand it aroused many arguments from the students. The reason this rule had to be enforced was that the previous year the administrators received many phone calls from the community. People were upset because the students were blocking their drive ways, loitering, and some were even damaging property. The administration formed designated parking areas for those students who drove to school. These parking areas were extremely congested, and were often inadequately protected. There was not ample space for parking, and many students complained about this inconvenience. It is impossible to please everybody, but as time goes by the problems which occurred will be solved in an amicable way.

Tardiness Takes Its Toll

There was a time when everyone had to get up early to go to school. Now the time has come for us to undergo this terrible task. However, there were a great many students who could not handle this seemingly simple task. For example, those late nights spent doing homework caused a student to press and repress the snooze button on their alarm clock because they couldn't bear to get out of bed. They decided to sleep some more until they realized that school had already begun. They then climbed out of bed, got dressed and rushed off to school. Once they arrived at school, they ran to class and walked right in and sat down as if nothing had happened. Some teachers didn't say anything; they just marked them tardy. Other teachers yelled and screamed and sent the student to the office for an admit to class. This year at Foothill, the administration devised a new system to try and cut down on tardiness. In this system a student could have up to two tardies, after that it was automatic detention. The new tardy system that was developed has turned into a great success, at least, as far as the administration is concerned.

This is the Class of 1988.

As the last three years passed by,
friendships grew and friendships died.
Though everyone tried to stick together,
we know these ties will last forever.
Now the Juniors prepare for their last and final year, deep in their hearts their roots will always remain here.
Towards the end some will laugh, others will cry, but as the minutes grow closer, each will give their final good-bye to Foothill High.

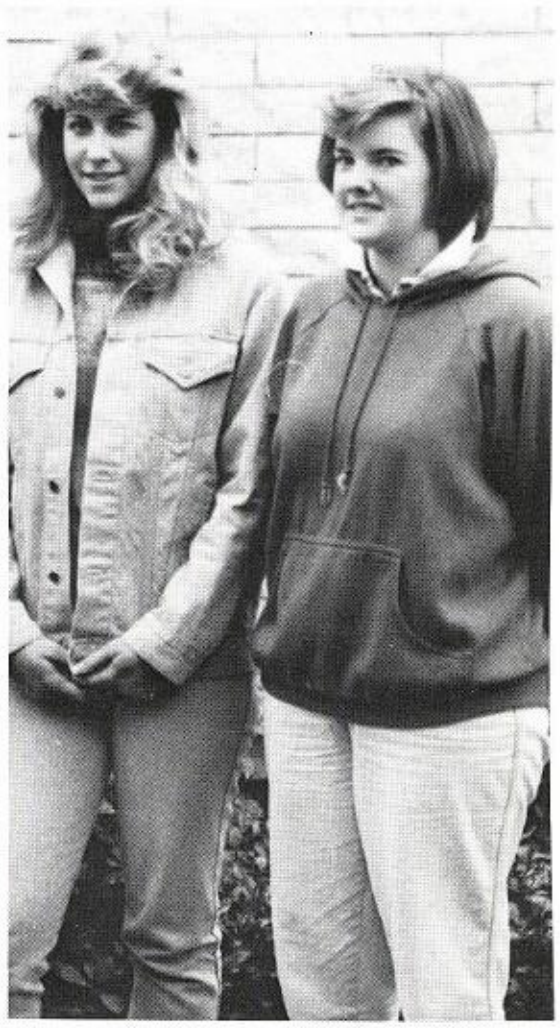
Junior Class Officers

Fall Student Council Officers were Matt Colby, Gretchen Lowell, Kim Williamson, and Melanie McShane.



Kim Williamson and Melanie McShane greatly appreciated the support given by the junior class.

"This year has been the best for student involvement and class spirit," remarks Junior class representative, Shannon Lynch, "and next year we're gonna blow away all of the underclassmen!"

They organized fundraisers, which included a car wash, Back to School Dance, bake sale, flower sale, and other such money-making events. With the money taken in, the student council planned an enchanting Junior Prom at the Sunset Whitney Country Club. The representatives helped make this year a fantastic one for the entire Junior class.

Sophomores Come Of Age

When sophomores begin to plan their class schedule, a top choice is a class called California State Requirement, commonly referred to as CSR. Although this class covers many topics throughout the semester, the driver education portion is the most important to the sophomore class. This portion, driver education, generally covers all of the traffic rules and regulations for the State of California. To pass this class, students must complete a large amount of work sheets along with one extensively long work sheet due at the end of the course. Students are also subjected to gory films that show you what happens when you make a mistake while driving.

About midway through the driver education portion of the course, some lucky sophomores get to take part in the driver training course offered by the Grant Joint Union School District. This course is designed to teach students how to maneuver a vehicle on the road. The three stages that are covered through the four week course are traffic simulators, obstacle course, and on the road training. Students who pass this class are well on their way to becoming good drivers.

Slacking Sophomores Shape Up

The sophomore student council had a slow start during the fall semester. Because of a lack of participation from the sophomore class, there was only one member, Tara Holmes. By the time spring semester came around the sophomores had full membership.

Student council members completed many projects that benefited the sophomore class. They held bingo nights, bake sales, and car washes to raise money for thier class. One of the successful events was the bake sale, which raised over sixty dollars. Even though the sophomores had a sluggish start, they finished off the year with great success.

A Fresh Start

The Freshmen of 1986-87 were no different than any other freshmen class in the past. They came to Foothill uncertain of what to expect from high school life. There were many things about high school that were different from what they had been used to, and adjusting to these changes proved to be frustrating at times. One change was that they had to leave their childish world and approach a more adult world. Although many succeeded, there were always the more childish ones that gave "freshmen" a bad name.

Everyone could sympathize with the plight of the freshmen class . We've all been there and we've suffered the consequences. This year's freshmen could be relieved now that their sophomore year is soon approaching and that a new and unsuspecting frosh class is coming.

Freshmen at the Rally

The freshmen are not the most spirited group at of the four classes, but they show more enthusiasm and class than frosh in the past. In the rallies of years gone by, the freshmen section of the gym, where they all should join together in a cheer for their class, has been silent and void. But what is this! Do I hear noise? Do I hear cheering? Is that from that no-man's land of the gym? Are those freshmen cheering and acting like they belong at the rallies. I think they are. Well now, this is a change for the better. The freshmen finally mustered up the small bit of courage it takes to have a voice in this school and make themselves be known. Congrats, baby stangs!

Upperclassmen Fears

Being on the bottom of the ladder puts fear in the hearts of many freshmen. Freshmen roam the halls of Foothill constantly looking over their shoulders for the devious upperclassmen. There is the fear of being trashed, thrown into the swimming pool, or other numerous possibilities.

The Freshmen class stand their guard, awaiting their next attack, while the upperclassmen seek out their next victim.

Congratulations Freshmen, you are now up and coming sophomores with only two classes above you.

Freshmen on Sophomores

Sophomores are careless slobs who will do anything for a laugh. Sophomores are really nice to us Freshmen. They don't talk about us. I think sophomores are more mature than the seniors.
Sophomores think they're pretty cool but they are only one step up from freshmen.

Yearbook Staff Member on Freshmen

Freshmen as a whole are acting somewhat civilized.

I think the freshmen class should be congratulated for a fine year.

Class Officers

Spring Semester President, Jennifer Uyeda, and Dina Baser, Fall Semester President, were both happy with the year's accomplishments.

Freshman class officers

The freshman class got off to a pretty shakey start at the beginning of the year when they did not have a float for Homecoming. After that, the class got through the remainder of the year pretty well, considering the fact that they were indeed freshmen. The young Mustangs had many fundraisers; a candy-gram sale, a bake sale, a pizza sale, and bingo nights. They had hopes of raising sufficient funds for an outstanding Junior Prom. President Jennifer Uyeda said "By the time we're Juniors, we're going to have it all together. We're going to be the best class Foothill will ever have!"

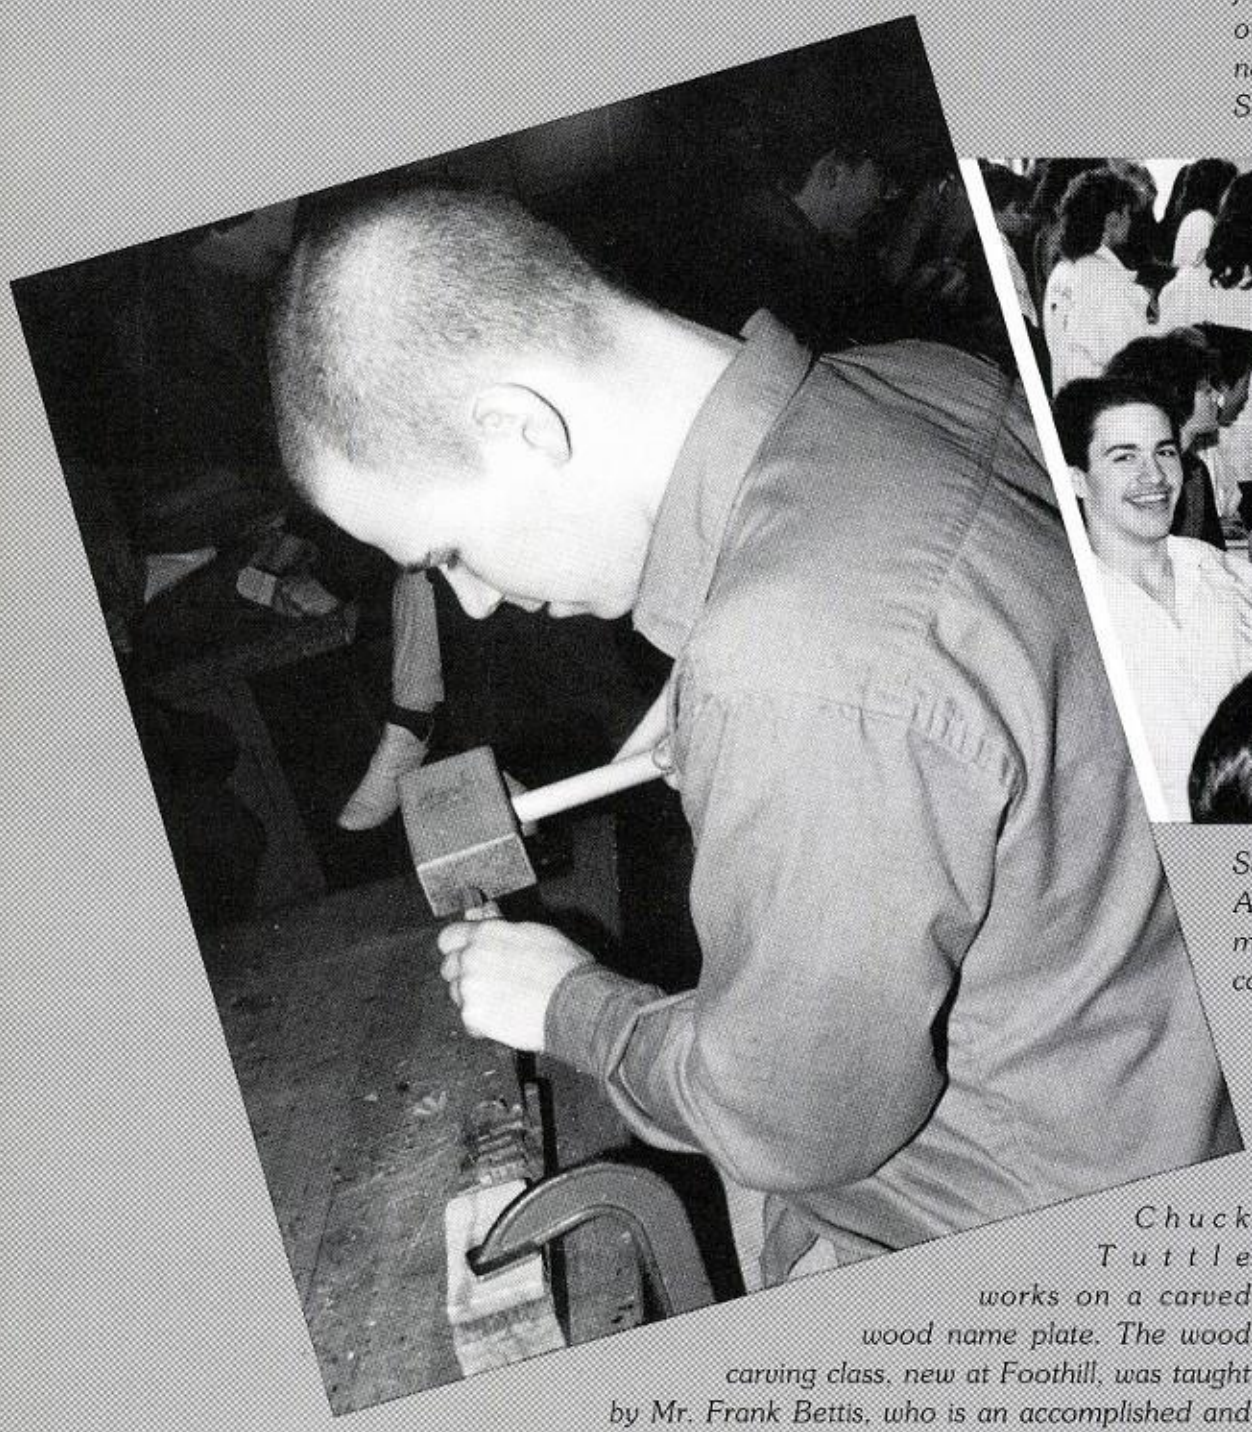
"And That's The Way It Was"

1986-1987 events surprised, deplored, and enlightened people around the world.

On July 5, after an intense makeover, the Statue of Liberty was unveiled for her 100th birthday to onlookers world wide. In addition to the millions of people who witnessed this historical event, thousands of sea going vessals flocked to the bay to observe a specatular 28 minute firework display. Corazon Aquino was celebrating on her own because of her victory in the race for presidency in the Philippines against Ferdinand Marcos. However, fans of Marcos made life unpleasant for many Filipinos with devastating riots long after the election ended. Prince Andrew of Wales took Sarah Ferguson's hand in marriage in yet another flamboyant royal wedding in Westminster Abby. The serious AIDS crisis continues to haunt people world wide. This fatal disease threatens to touch the lives of countless millions in years to come. Innocent people such as Rock Hudson and the loved Liberace have already become victims of this devastating illness. In yet another crisis, President Reagan's involvement in the arms dealings with Iran shocked people across the nation. Aviation history was made once again as a specially built aircraft made a flight around the world in just over nine days, nonstop. And finally, for those dedicated sports fans, the World Series featured the New York Mets and the Boston Red Sox. Celebrations were at hand for the Mets after they defeated Boston in the 7th game in the series. Also in the ever popular Super Bowl the New York Giants thundered over the Washington Redskins with a 39-20 victory. Furthermore, America's yachting team, the Stars and Stripes, regained the America's Cup.

Shani Roberts is interviewed by Kent Hunt, disc jockey from radio station K108, concerning her involvement with the new Molecular Biology class being offered at Foothill. Foothill was the first high school on the West Coast to dissect and recombine DNA.

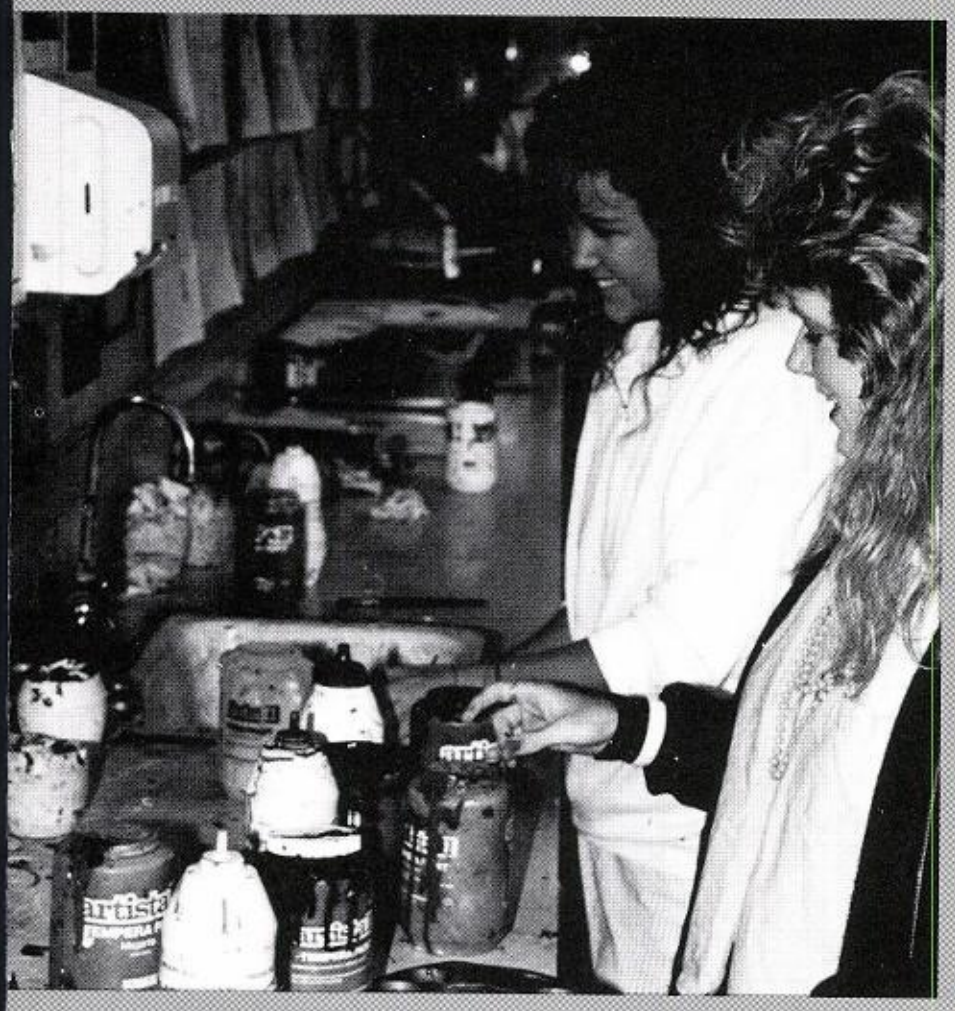
Senior Tony Suplee, followed by the mighty Mustangs, charges on to the field. For the first time in Foothill's history, the Mustangs became CVC champions with an undefeated season of 9 wins and no losses. Unfortunately, the team lost in the first round of the championships to San Juan.



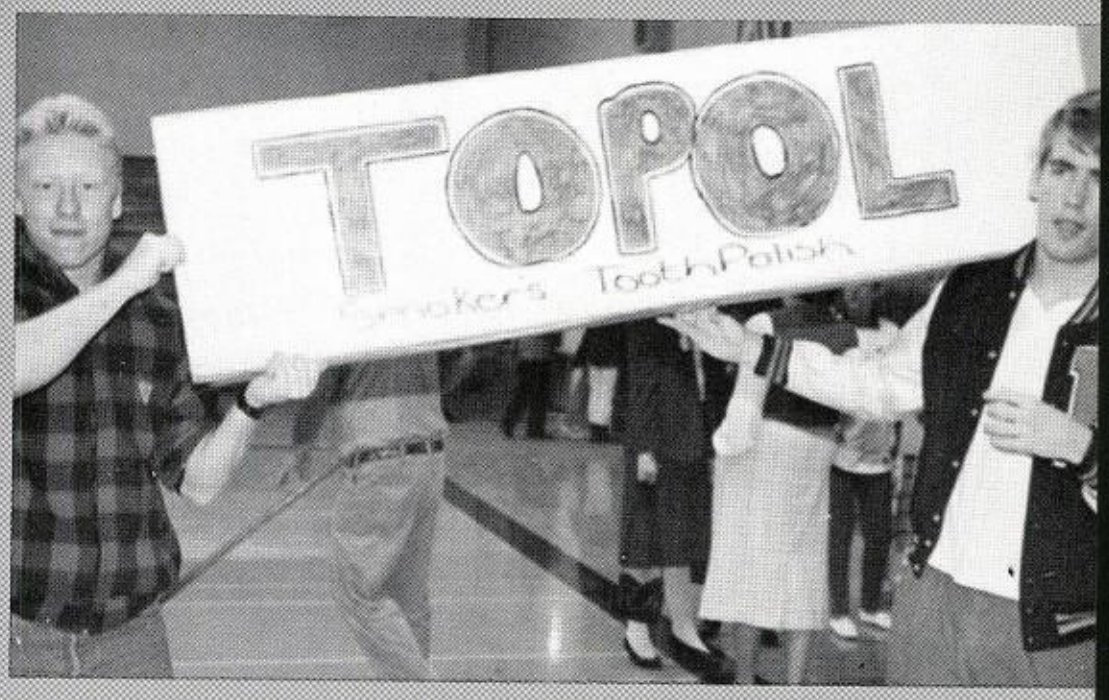
Chuck Tuttle works on a carved wood name plate. The wood carving class, new at Foothill, was taught by Mr. Frank Bettis, who is an accomplished and award winning wood sculptor.

Sophomores listen intently to their officers at a class meeting. After poor showings at lunch-time the student council called mandatory meetings to discuss fund raisers, proms, and upcoming school events.

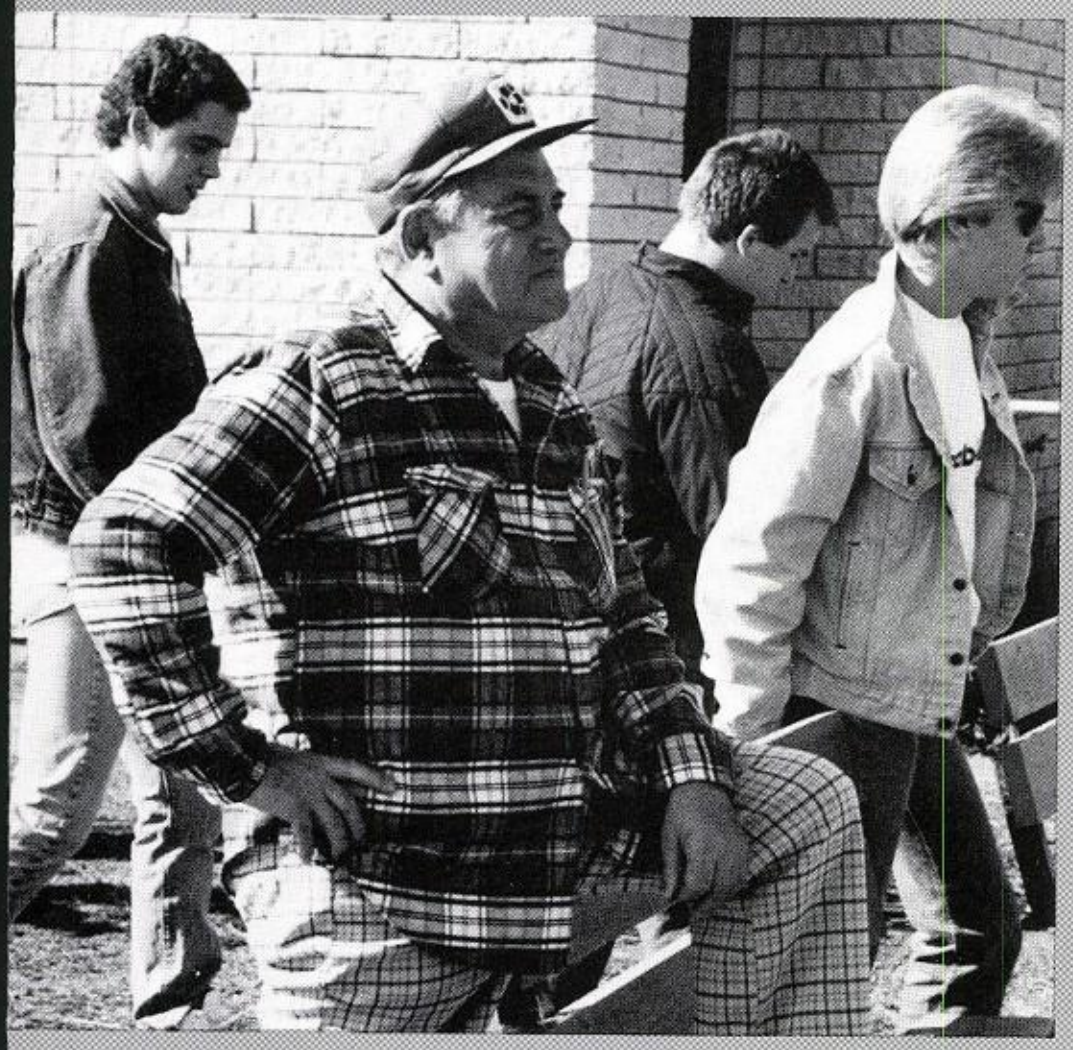
School News



Melinda Belcher and Mary Lou Cooper mix paints for an art project. Under the new Senate Bill 18, high school students were required to take a year of fine arts which included a choice of music, foreign langauge or an arts and crafts class.



Mark Wisman and Dan Bailey display one of the props used at the Students Against Driving Drunk rally where Television channel 3 covered the event on the evening news. A SADD Chapter was also formed on campus and an assembly with guests speaking on the subject of drunk driving was sponsored.



Hall Monitor William Boyd watches over the campus with eagle eyes. Not only did students cope with the second year of closed campus but a rule which imposed no smoking was added.

In Other News ...

• Would you believe "Breakfast Club" at Foothill? Students who would have otherwise received detention or suspension were assigned a day of Saturday school. During the day spent in the school library with Mr. Natividad, students were required to work on school assignments or homework.

• Parking permits were not strictly inforced, but were supposed to have been bought by all students wishing to park their vehicle on campus. When the stickers were first introduced, there was a charge of fifty cents per car. After much grumbling by the students, the Booster club was kind enough to pick up the tab for all parking stickers.

• To help freshmen get aquainted with the school, learn their way around the campus, and have any questions about the school answered, a peer counseling program was set up. The counselors were selected on the basis of grades, attendance, and citizenship. On the day of the freshman orientation, the peers were assigned about five freshmen each.

Friends From Faraway

Foothill has enjoyed a variety of cultures shared with this year's foreign exchange students.

Laura DeJuan, our visitor from Spain, took advantage of the many different activities that Foothill had to offer. She was a member of the Spanish club, Biology club, and CSF. Laura made many new friends during the past year. Her only complaint was that "American guys aren't as cute as the guys in Spain."

Lotte Thrige was a senior from Denmark. She came to Foothill through the exchange program, Youth for Understanding. Lotte was thrilled at the prospect of coming to America and planned to visit San Francisco and the East Coast before returning to her home country.

Foothill's Norwegian friend, Eirik Dosen, established a well-known reputation on our campus. His "senior best" smile stole the hearts of many of Foothill's young ladies while his athletic ability earned the respect of Foothill's men. Eirik was especially talented in soccer, his favorite sport.

Mariza Montung came to us from Djakarta, Indonesia. Mariza enjoyed swimming, tennis, and badminton. She participated in two of Foothill's foreign language clubs, French and Spanish. When asked what was one difference between California and Indonesia, she replied that Californians are much more candid.

Much to Foothill's disappointment, Leif Humes, also from Norway, was unable to finish off the year at Foothill and there was no picture available.

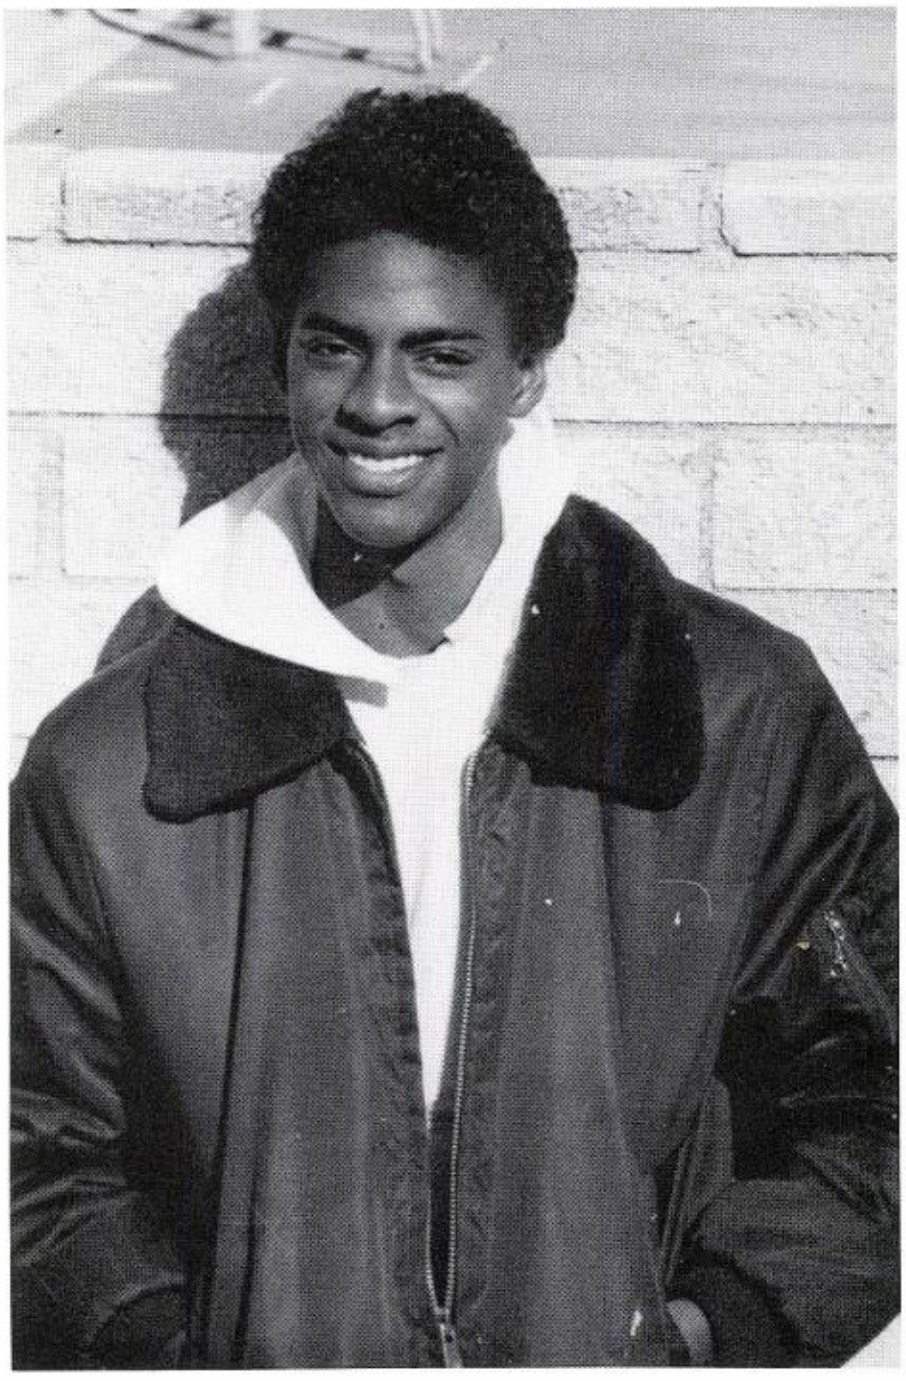
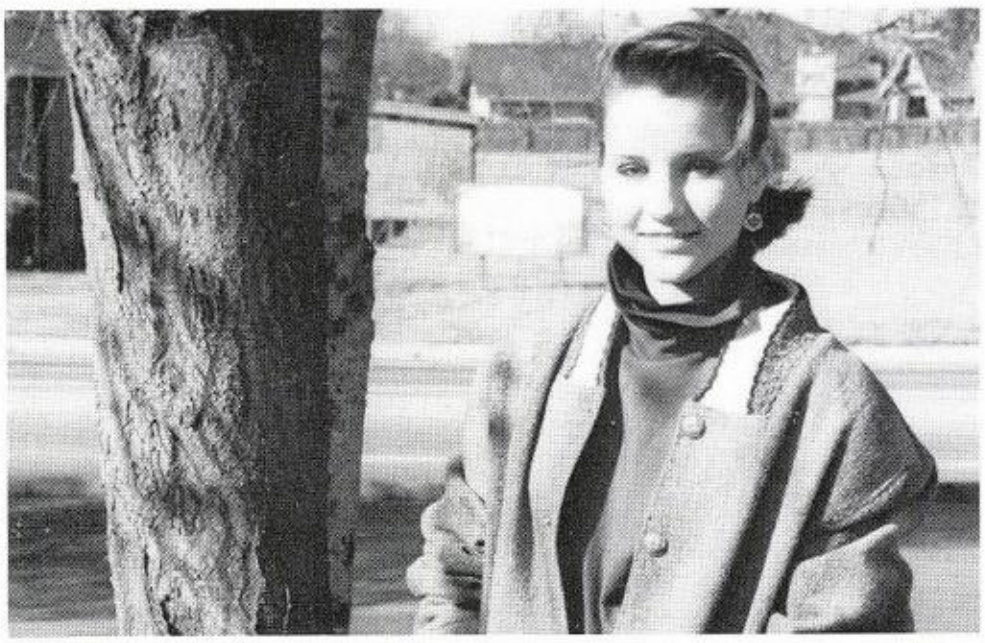
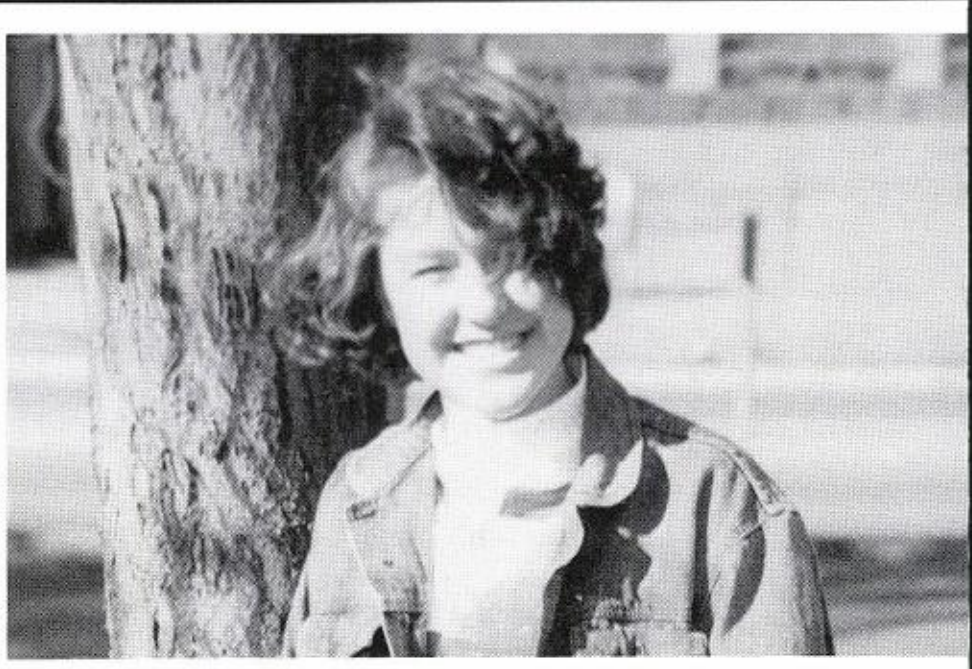
Outstanding People



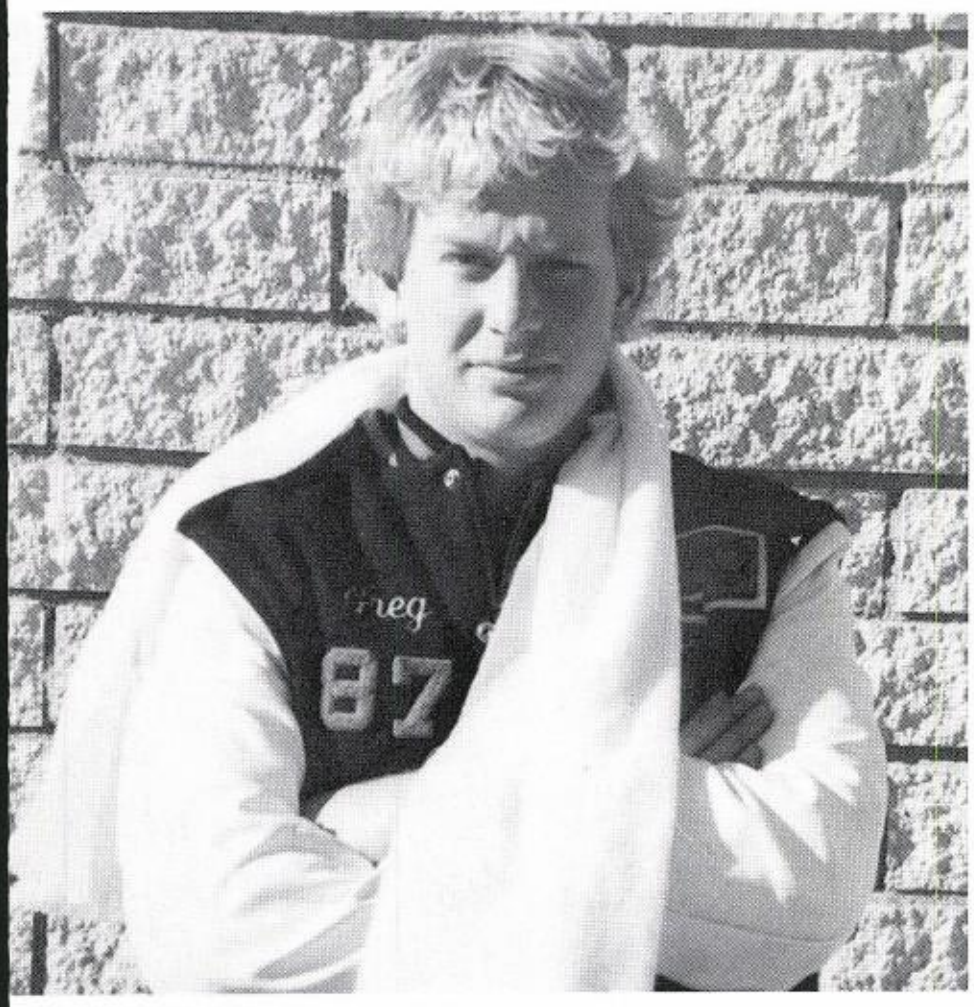
Ted Sessions, a junior here at Foothill is very talented in music, track, and academics. Ted has been running since he was in the fifth grade. When he was eleven years old he won third place in a marathon, running in the sixteen and under category. At the present time, Ted's day is occupied with band. Last summer he attended drum major camp in Loomis. Next year he will be Foothill's drum major. Ted plays the clarinet, snare drum, and is now studying the piano. Aside from music and running, he has a grade point average of 3.9. After high school, he would like to attend the naval academy and become a pilot. After his piloting requirements are up, he would like a career in engineering. If Ted does not go to a military academy, he wishes to attend M.I.T. and major in physics. Ted's philosophy is, "Don't compare yourself with others. Just be the best that you can be."

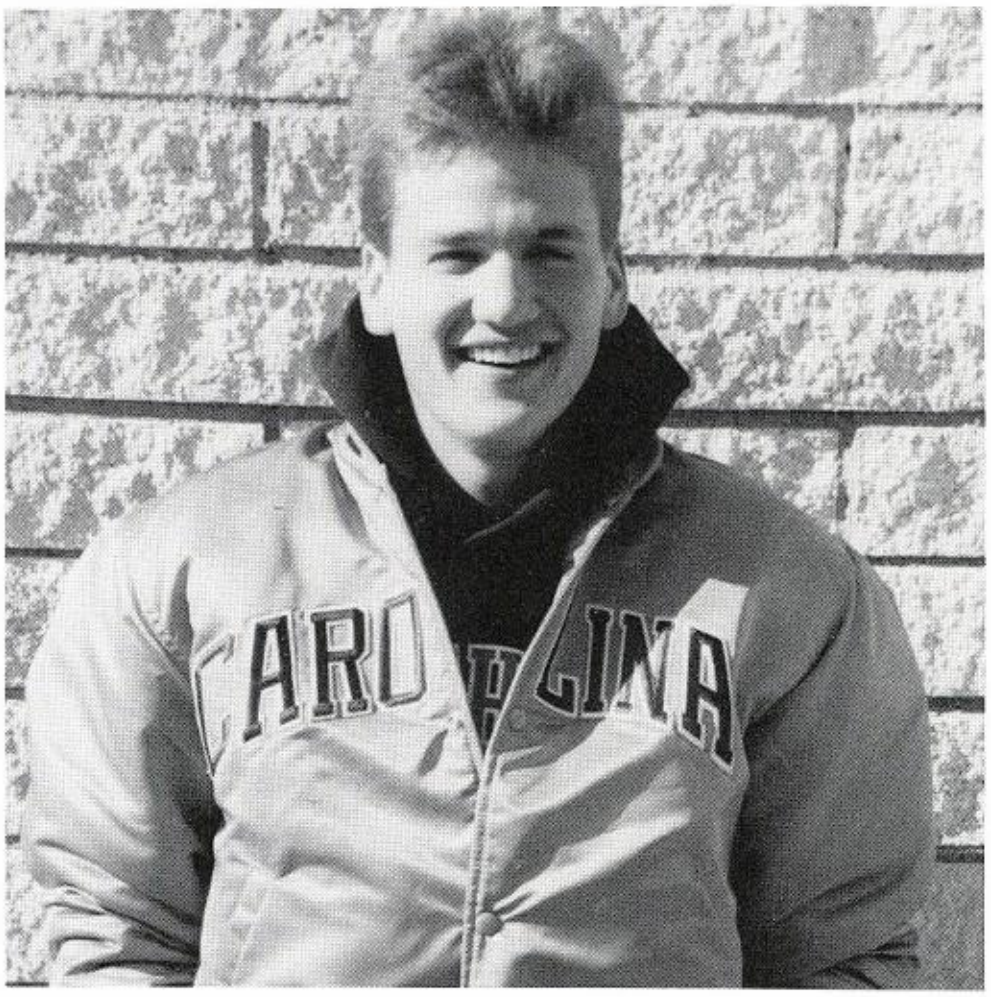




Melody Perkins, a fifteen year old sophomore, is an outstanding ballerina. She has been in ballet since she was six years old. December of '86 marked the fifth year that she has participated in the Nutcracker. She has portrayed such characters as the soldier, Chinese dancer, Spanish dancer, flower, and snow. During the summer of 1986, Melody was picked to attend the San Francisco Ballet School for eight weeks. She recently received a dancing scholarship from Great American First Savings. After high school she would like to dance with one of the more prominent dance companies such as the School of American Ballet, located in New York, and the Royal Ballet in London. When asked what she thinks about her dancing, she replied, "I feel as if I have more confidence when I'm performing. I feel like people like what they see."

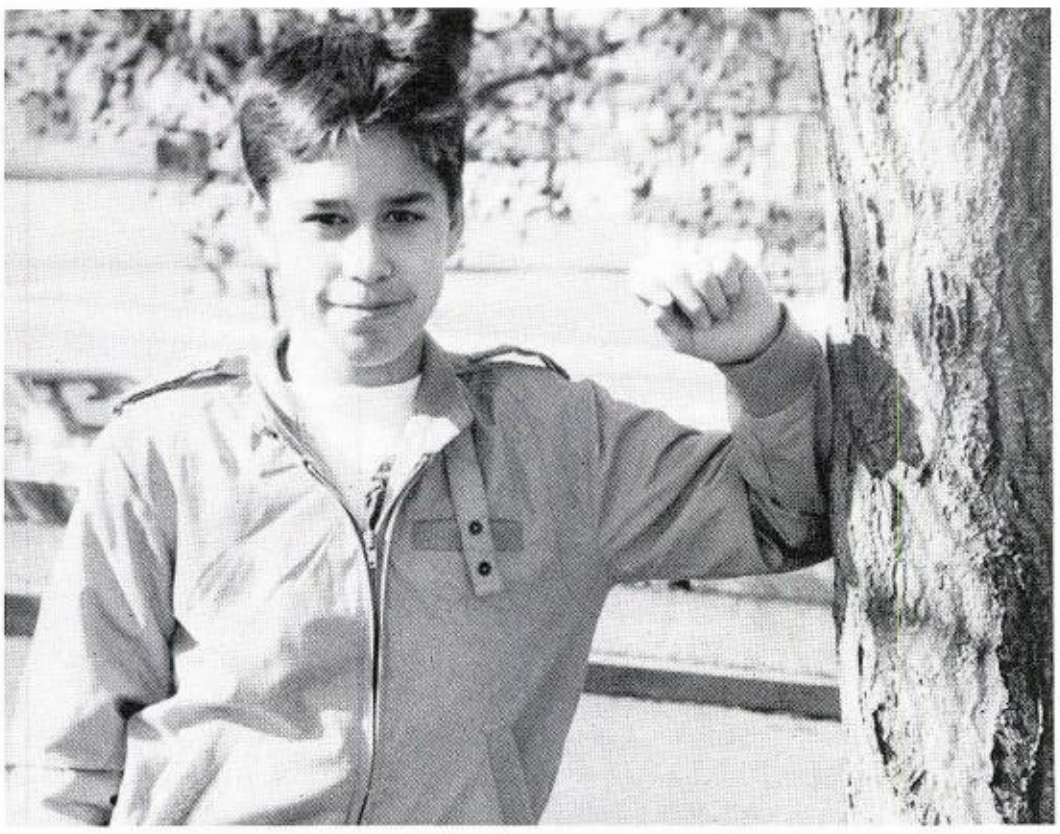
One of our outstanding leaders at Foothill is Stacey Johnson. She is 15 years old and a sophomore. Stacey is the treasurer of the VICA club here at Foothill. She has been involved in VICA since the eighth grade. She just applied for the Hugh O'Brien Scholarship which would give her the opportunity to be the sophomore representative from Northern California at the Hugh O'Brien Youth Seminar held in April of '87. Stacey is now preparing to run for state officer fo VICA. This past year she was part o a team of eight people who won gold medal at a VICA competitio for parliamentary procedure. Stace says that being in VICA has helpe her to be able to speak publicly. also has given her the opportunity t meet new people.





As a senior in high school, Greg Scrivner has many responsibilities to fulfill. Besides this, he also likes recreation. He has been involved in baseball since he was six, soccer since age eight, basketball since the sixth grade, and football since his freshman year. His favorite sport is football. He plans to play football in college. He wants to attend U.O.P., an IV League school, or the Air Force Academy. If he attends the Air Force Academy, he will become a pilot, but otherwise, his future plans are to teach and coach. When asked how he thought high school sports could be improved, he replied, "More faculty and student support is needed. If the faculty isn't supportive, why should the students be?"

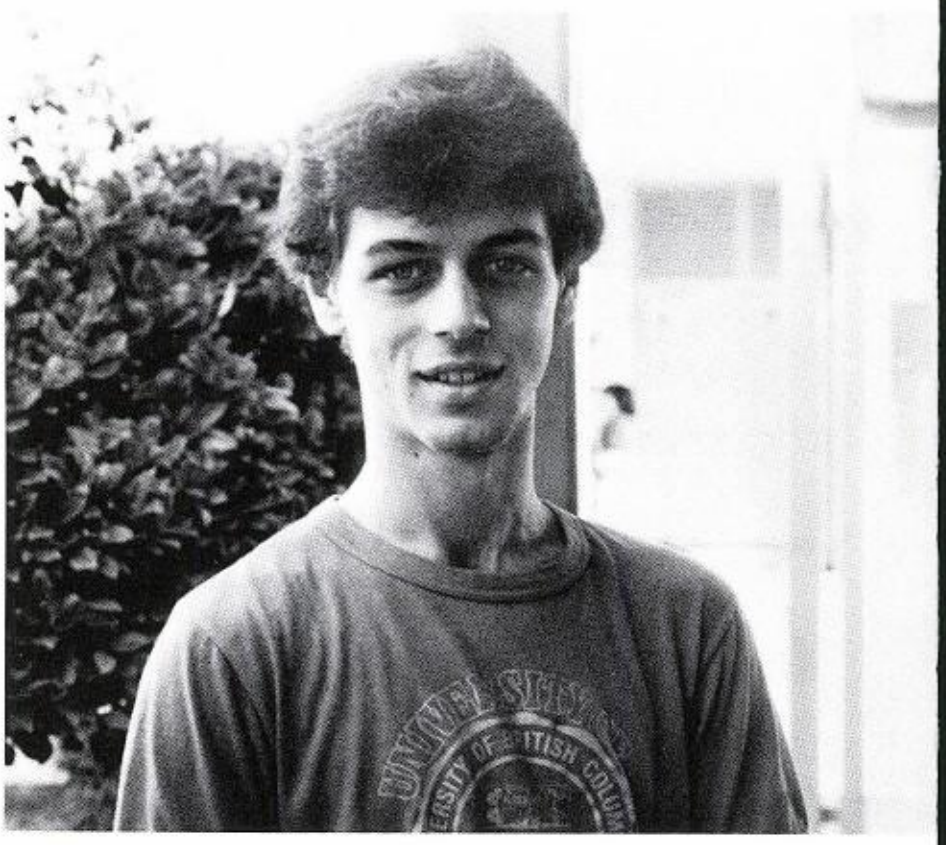
All of his life, Jason Edwards, now a senior, has been involved in sports. At the mere age of four he started baseball. Then, two years later he got involved with soccer. In the fourth grade he began basketball, and in ninth grade, started playing football, which has become his favorite sport. Jason receives eight or nine letters a week on the average from various prestigious colleges seeking to recruit him. He is considering the University of Pacific, U.C. Davis, West Point, and the Air Force Academy. He wishes to study law and become an F.B.I. agent.



Fourteen year old Tom King is a very talented musician who has already composed two songs. He is a freshman this year at Foothill High School. He started his musical career in the sixth grade playing the piano. The next year he learned to play the baritone, alto, and tenor saxophone, and also the drums. Then, in the eighth grade, Tom learned to play the guitar. He has become very versatile with all of these instruments and would like to learn to play other instruments. Presently, Tom belongs to a singing group along with two other boys. The group performs regularly at their church (the Neighborhood Bible Church). At the age of thirteen, Tom had the opportunity to open for Petra at Great America with his group. Tom's future goals are to attend Bethany Bible College in Santa Cruz, and after that he would like to become a contemporary Christian singer, songwriter, musician, etc.

JOHN RIZZARDO

When John Rizzardo graduates from high school, he plans to attend U.C. Davis or Cal Poly and major in Aeronautical Engineering. His main interests have been in math and science. As a 4.0 student throughout high school, he has been an active member in CSF serving as Vice President and in the Biology Club. He has also participated in soccer and badminton. John owes all of this to his family and friends for encouraging him to reach his goals.



Number 1 Student

MELISSA MILLER

Upon graduation, Melissa Miller plans to attend FIDM, Longbeach or University of Santa Barbara. Her major is Fashion Designing and in the future she hopes to work in a large clothing industry. Throughout high school Melissa has been an active member in the Biology Club, CSF and in Friday Night Live. She has also volunteered her services to Young Life and FOTC youth groups. Melissa's determination, hard work, and dedication helped her achieve her goals.

JACK KILLMAN

Jack Killman plans on attending U.C. Davis upon graduation. His major, Aeronautical Engineering, was influenced by his interests in math and science. Throughout high school, Jack has participated in various activities such as soccer and track. He has also been Student Body President, and an active member in CSF. His voluntary services were appreciated in tutoring, serving on the CAP committee, helping with Academic Decathalon and with the Mock Trial. Future plans for Jack consist of joining the military and becoming a pilot.

TOP TEN

After completing four long, strenuous years, the top ten academic students were finally acknowledged for their outstanding efforts throughout high school. The majority of these students have been involved with CSF, journalism, student leadership, VICA, and athletics.

In order to become one of the candidates for top ten, the students have had to rearrange schedules, maintain excellent grade point averages, plan for college, and get ideas for a major. Some of the students have received scholarships for which they can attend the top universities and have been given priority for entrance into colleges of their choice. As a result of their endeavors these top ten achievers have limitless opportunities open to them.

Top ten students: 1. Robert O'Gorman 2. Martin Seamons 3. Steve Lenkner 4. Sheryl Johnson 5. Joey Souvignier 6. Hin Chhen 7. Kevin Gregory

Intellects At Heart

Some of Foothill's brightest students participated in the 1986-'87 Knowledge Bowl and Academic Decathlon. The team for the Knowledge Bowl was made up of five seniors and one junior. The Knowledge Bowl is based on an old television program, the College Bowl. Six top students from each high school compete for scholarships. Team members were quizzed in English, math, social studies, science, current events, and a newer topic, fine arts.

In the Academic Decathlon, seven students competed from twenty-six different schools. There were ten different academic areas covered. The subjects were math, science, social science, language and literature, speech, economics, and the fine arts. An essay, an interview and a super quiz were also required. Both groups proved to be outstanding in all categories.

Celebrate Sports

Throughout the year, and every year, sports provide an entertaining diversion from the demanding teachers and the laborious hours of homework. This year included successful seasons for nearly every sport, especially the varsity football team's 9-0 CVC title. The devoted fans also contributed greatly to this prosperous year.

. . . successful opponents, that is, to defeat the awesome Mustangs in their unstoppable trek en route to the play-offs. No mercy was displayed on the part of the Stangs when the Roseville Tigers fell to their defeat with a score of 30 to 6. The games against Highlands, Bella Vista, and Kennedy all followed suit.

The Homecoming game against the Encina Apaches added another notch to the untamable Mustangs' belt. The experienced Senior-dominated team scalped the Apaches 51-7.

The Mustangs then raided Rio Americana, plucked El Camino, gored Encina, and mauled El Dorado to bring their season to 9-0. Jason Edwards was impressed when he said, "At the beginning of the year, I knew that we were capable of having a good season, but I never thought we'd go undefeated."

At the annual football banquet, Jim Burreson was awarded the prestigious "Mustang of the Year" award. Jason Edwards and Duane Owens received best offensive backs, and best defensive players were Tony Supplee and Derek LaDay.

J.V. Football Struggles

The J.V. football team had a long and hard season. The Mustangs started off the season with several non-league losses. In league games, the team had a record of one win and five losses. The team was well equipped with fine athletes, but had a hard time putting together the chemistry to have a successful team. The team's offensive attack was led by a strong running game and headed by tough players, such as, Chad Veial, Charles Lee, Curtis LaBay, Marcel McClain, and quarterback Brian Buick.

Gary Hicks took over the duties as head coach this year. Overall, the team ended its season with a 2-7 record.

"The team struggled, but I hope what we learned this year will help us next year at the varsity level." — Brian Buick

Ponies Off and Trotting

The '86-'87 frosh football season was a good one, but could have been terrific. They ended the season with four wins and three losses. After a slow start, losing two of the first three games, they showed great character by coming back and winning three of their last four games. "This team was only beaten once. The other two losses can be attributed to coaching errors," said Coach Soto. At the awards ceremony on December 1, the following players received awards: the leading ground gainer and voted most valuable player was Alex Lazaro; the best quarterback choice was between Chris Lopez and Jason Moredock; the outstanding lineman award went to Greg Jaggers, also outstanding on the line was Jason Edwards; outstanding on defense was Captain Eric Scrivner, along with James Hunt, and Scott Irish; most inspirational was Renier Botha.

1. Determined Mustangs struggle for first down yardage. 2. The offensive line holds back their opponenets. 3. Jason Moredock hands off the ball to Mark Wisman, while Alex Laxaro blocks. 4. Foothills's offensive line. 5. Eric Scrivner, Alex Lazaro, Mark Wisman, and Benny Locsin cheer on the Mustangs. 6. Hong Kim slips out of the grasp of his opponent. 7. Eric Scrivner out leaps the defender. 8. Hong Kim sprints down the field to score for the Stangs. 9. Top row: R. Haynes, C. Nicholes, J. Call, Coach D. Soto, Coach E. Soto, Coach J. Jimenez, P. Alive and Kicking

For the varsity soccer team, the 1986 season looked almost promising. During pre-season, the team traveled to Eureka in September to compete in a tournament. The Mighty Mustangs defeated three other high schools to advance to the championship game against Eureka in which they were defeated. The Mustangs carried into their season an air of confidence — maybe too much confidence. During midseason, the team then traveled to Dixon to participate in another tournament, and were defeated after their third game. The remainder of the season went reasonably well for the Mustangs. The team wrapped things up by tying their last two games, setting them in third place for the second year in a row, just missing out on the Tournament of Champions. As close as they were to the T.O.C., the returning varsity players should be able to get it together next season.

J.V. — #3 In CVC

The second year of the J.V. soccer program turned out to be quite successful. Under the coaching of Grant Denny and Danny Morton, the team played their way to third place in the competitive CVC league.

Team member Mark Saldivar said, "Our team was aggressive, and we never gave up until the end." The only problems the team seemed to have were it's lack of team cooperation and skilled players. The team also received no financial support from the school, which tended to pose a problem. Overall, the J.V. soccer team had a good season, but many of the players were anxious to begin another season and improve their third place ranking.

A Season Worth Celebrating

The varsity volleyball team has done extraordinarily well this year. The team's record was Foothill's all time best, ending the season 17-4, landing them in second place.

The difference was obvious in the team's spirit and in how well they worked together. The experience of the players from previous years and the hard hours spent at practice with coach Kris Jacobsen were paid great dividends. The team's only losses were to El Dorado and Mira Loma. Fortunately, this was far from enough to keep the Mustangs from progressing on to the Tournament of Champions. The team was sadly defeated by Napa Valley, but that didn't lower the feeling of pride that Foothill had maintained after the season ended.

Awards were given out to players who had distinctive skills and also to the only two seniors. Good going team!

Mustangs Rebound

The men's varsity basketball team set out to achieve some ambitious goals. To start off the season, the Stangs won the prestigious Jack Scott Tourney with impressive wins over two of the "top ranked" teams in Sacramento.

After a 1-3 start in league, Foothill seemed to be out of any chance to make the playoffs. But the team rallied to win their next six games, which tied them with El Camino for second place. A playoff game between Foothill and El Camino was held to determine who would advance to the Sac-Jouquin sections. After a tough battle the Stangs overpowered the Eagles with a strong defense and outstanding play by Jason Edwards, Robby Jones and Stanley Powell.

In the first round of the TOC, Foothill met the Bella Vista Bronco's. The game was close, but the Mustangs pulled it out when Jason Vernon sank two important free-throws in the closing seconds to put Foothill up by two points and advance to the quarter finals to face Kennedy. The Mustangs played hard, but the buckets weren't falling and Foothill lost.

The Varsity basketball team had a great season and overcame many obstacles. Jason Edwards, MVP of the CVC league, was selected to the first team all city. Jason Vernon and Robby Jones were selected as Honorable Mentions.

JV's Finish Strong

The men's junior varsity basketball team had a roller coaster season. Although there were ups and downs, the team ended with an overall record of 10-14. Early in the season, the Stangs advanced to the championship game in the Jack Scott Tournament. The team played with great intensity, but lost in the closing minutes of the game by a margin of two points. Under the prestigious coaching of head Coach Tim Inderbitzen and assistant Coach Manning the team learned how to play solid man to man defense. The young Stang's play greatly improved toward the end of the season. Each player gained valuable experience and a great deal of knowledge which will be needed for next year's varsity squad.

Foothill Frosh Falters

The boy's frosh basketball team had an exciting season this year. There were 12 active players, with Greg Scrivner acting as captain. The whole team made a vigorous effort and improved their skills but, it was not enough to give them a winning season. They struggled in the CVC League, especially in the first half of the season. Coach Thome explained by saying, " 'Foothillitis' ended up taking our season, but it was a great learning experience." If nothing else was gained from the experience, at least the players were eager for a fresh start next year. Coach Colby stated, "The whole team has worked hard and made a great deal of improvement. All of the players can be congratulated for their effort this season and some of them should be helping Foothill win for the next few years."

The varsity girl's basketball season did not look like it was going to be a very rewarding one at first. The team got off to a rather slow start, but finished the season satisfactorily.

Fabuloous Foothill Five Flaunts Flame

The girl's J.V. Basketball team consisted of merely five players, making it difficult for them considering the fact that they had no backup players. Each player did an excellent job of covering their positions. Jessica Wharton played an excellent defense while Marla Gibson acted as the dominant force in the center. Shannon Ewing proved to be the best rebounder, scoring an average of 14 points per game while Jennifer Snyder scored an average of more than 10 points per game. Jennifer Romeyn, who recently arrived from Minnesota, also helped the team tremendously. Coach Steel commented that she had a nice shooting touch.

Apparently, lack of players was not an obstacle in their march to victory, for the team enjoyed a winning season. The highlight of their season was their victory over El Dorado ending with a score of 39-38. Coach Steel stated, "The JV team played with a lot of art, challenged all the first place teams and deserved their opportunity to be in contention."

Great Year For Grapplers

The 1986-1987 Mustang wrestling team had an overall good season. The varsity team achieved a CVC record of three wins and two losses. The Jr. Varsity team had a fabulous season. They were undefeated and won the CVC tournament decisively. The basic goal of this year's team was to be the best they were capable of being. Some outstanding wrestlers were: Sophomores, Rendell Johnson and Siguard Asp; Junior, Greg Shelton; and Senior, Eric Crocker. All of them were CVC champions in their respective weight classes. Senior Cathy Brown made history at Foothill this year, by being the first girl Mustang wrestler. "She earned the respect of her coaches, teammates, and opponents by her determination, quickness, skill, and tenacity," says Coach Heckle. Both Coach Heckle and Coach Santee are proud of this year's team.

Badminton Swings for Glory

This year's badminton team showed off an abundance of new talent. With few returning players, the team was composed of mostly new faces. Kevin Gregory, a returning senior, shared his opinion about the team. "We have a lot of new talent out this year and they appear to be promising. Due to their inexperience, however, the season ahead looks challenging." The season was challenging for the young team, however, their enthusiasm and unlimited energy helped them to gain the skills needed for a successful season. Most players showed a strong determination to win. Matt Prosser used the phrase "Can't lose" whenever spirits were low. The team's number one player was Sophomore Mark Salvidar.

Swimmers Makes Waves

As the cold winter weather gave way to sunny spring days, Foothill swimmers traded in their sweaters and coats for their swimsuits. Under the experienced coaching of Daryl Lohrke and newcomer Scott Anderson, the ambitious swimmers prepared for an outstanding season. Long hours of practice were put in by everyone in order to reach all of their goals. Many swimmers hoped to make the Sac-Joaquin Section meet in early May. Not ones to be away from the water for too long, the swimmers held a car wash in April to raise money for new team sweatshirts. Off to a good start, the swim team hoped to splash their way through a fun and successful season.

No Pain No Gain

It's been said that if there's no pain, there's no gain. Well, this statement holds true at track practices and meets, where certain dedicated "Stangs" tested their ability for running and sprinting.

This year's team was small, and there were a lot of newcomers, approximately 75%, as estimated by the coaches. Some of the top veterans were Eddie Vaughn, Mike Blackwell, John Mendiola, and Charles Putney. These four talented competitors were key influences for the success of this year's squad. The team's toughest competitors were Rio Americano, El Camino, and El Dorado. It wasn't the strongest year, but it was certainly productive in training future track stars. None of this would have been possible without hard work and dedication of Coach Davidson, Coach Almond, Coach Heckle and Coach Rogers. "It's been a tough season, but they have worked hard and have done well," said Coach Heckle.

1. Eddie Vaughn bursts out of the blocks, gaining a big head start. 2. Sherri Morgan successfully hands off to Cindy Parsons. 3. Front row: D. Nelson, R. Daw, K. Scroggins, R. Nagy, S. Morgan. Good But Green

Even though they lacked experience, the Junior Varsity track team had an unlimited amount of potential, motivation, and dedication. As the yearbook went to press, the team had only participated in two meets. Early "stars" that were identified were James Speckman and James Irish who excelled in running events, and Blain Boden who showed promise in the shot-put and discus. Coach Heckel said, "The sophomore team has strong potential and can be as good as they want to be."

No Love Lost

The 1987 tennis team lost many of its talented players from the previous year, but a new crop of players hoped to redeem the team after their first loss against, tough to beat, Rio Americano. Many new young players came out this year to help keep Foothill's winning record alive and bouncing. Top seeded Joey Souvignier said, "With the great coaching skills from Coach Hansen, we should do dandy." The tennis team practiced endless hours in order to perform with maximum efficiency. As the yearbook went to press, the team gathered several victories and had high expectations for league success.

Victory Eludes Varsity

The Varsity Baseball team got off to a slow start this year, but hoped to improve as the season progressed. Coach Clint Brill gave the players the instruction they needed, but after losing their fourth game in a row the Mustangs knew they weren't getting it all together. Some of the veteran players coming off a victorious basketball season, joined the team later and were a tremendous help. Mighty Mustangs ... Maybe?!

The J.V. baseball team tied their first game against Del Campo with a score of 6-6, to start off the 1987 season. An ecstatic Charley Ku said, "Coach Hicks and Coach Byrom are doing an outstanding job of preparing the sophomores to compete at the varsity level. The coaches are also helping the freshmen keep the Mustang winning tradition alive."

This season's starters consisted mostly of returning players, but had a few fresh frosh faces. The starters were Chad Vial, Greg Ortiz, Curtis LaBay, Jerome Salisbury, Jim Hicks, Charley Ku, Mike DeGroot, Doug Kramer and Isaac Faris.

The J.V. 'Stangs had hopes of sunny days, dry fields, and a winning season.

Heading for Home

The varsity softball team looked forward to a rewarding season in 1987. With the expertise of Coach Wagoner, the team endured extensive practices everyday in order to sharpen their skills on the field. As a new member on the varsity team, Freshman Kelly planned to work hard and dedicated her efforts to a winning season.

Going Batty

The J.V. softball team worked extremely hard to attain their goals in the '87 season. All the time it took to practice and perfect their game was well worth the effort, especially when the team defeated one of their opponents. The '87 team was young, consistent, and enthusiastic. The coaches

> "I can see a lot of them improving their skills to play varsity next year" — Coach Potts tried to instill in them good sportsmanship, proper attitudes and excellent team relationships. A couple of outstanding players, Laura Gaea and Donna Costa, helped keep the team's spirit alive. Coaches Martin and Potts were happy with the team's accomplishments.

Brutal Females

Under the coaching of Mr. Don Wharton and Mr. Dave Colby the women's varsity soccer team looked as if they were going to be as strong as ever. With more than half the team returning from last year, it looked to be a promising season for the girls. Kim Williamson and Jessica Wharton led the defense with superb force, and the combination of Michelle Stefani and Stephani Daw helped make the offense one of the most outstanding around. Super goalie Cathy Brown stood by to back up the rest of her teammates, those brutal females who hoped to tear up the turfs of their opponents.

This was the first year we have had a junior varsity soccer team. The team consisted of mostly freshmen. Although they had high enthusiasm the baby Stang's season did not promise to be a very rewarding one, but the experience will be to their advantage in the future.

1. Denise Quigley competes with opposing players to gain possession of the ball. 2. Jill Stuckey dribbles the ball downfield. 3. Team players talk about second-half strategy during a time-out. Celebrate Clubs and Organizations

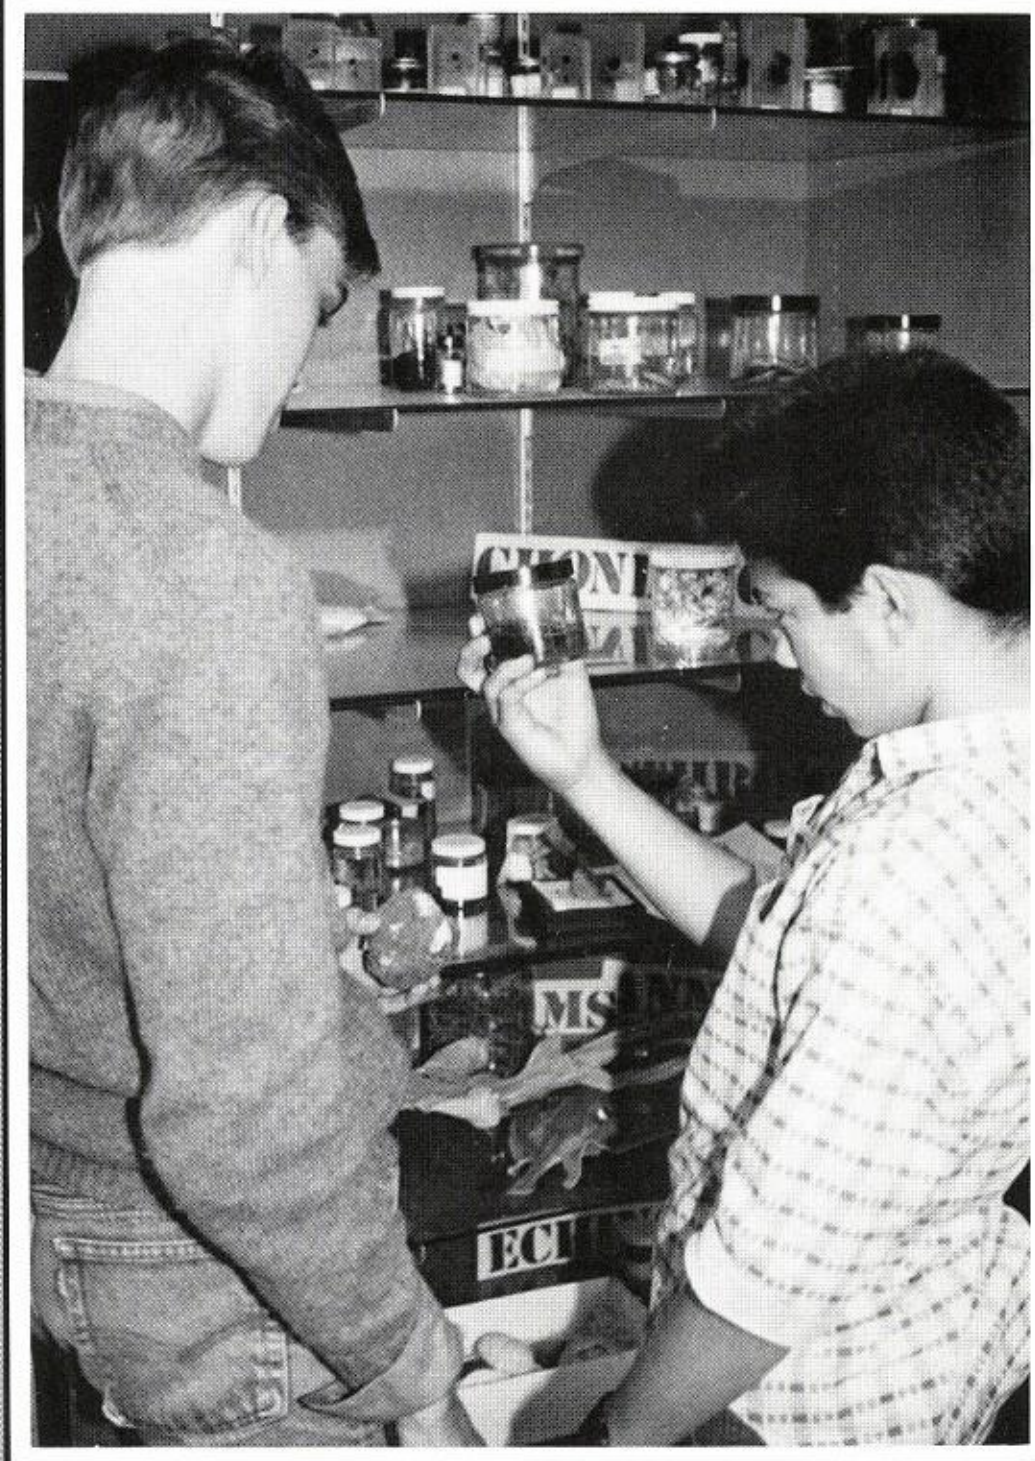
Foothill's many clubs and organizations enhanced the school socially as well as academically. These clubs and organizations supplied Foothill's top students with new challenges and experiences that they might use for future reference. The dedication of these students and the advisers was extremely evident in the outcome of all their endeavors.



Spanish Club

Members of the Spanish club enjoyed many festivities throughout the year. Dinners and parties were held often and many of the club's get togethers exposed members to Spanish culture. All in all, this year's Spanish club was a great success.

German Club

Güten Morgen mein schulefreund! 1986-87 was an outstanding year for the German Club. Because of a very successful candy sale, the club was able to have food prepared by Mr. Dobbert and occasionally go out to a local German restaurant for dinner. Club members enjoyed numerous activities dealing with German culture. A European extravaganza was offered those who were interested in a chance of a lifetime trip!!!

"Parlez-vous Français"

French club members gained much from their experiences throughout the year. Aside from regular club meetings, they held the traditional French club bake sales and fundraisers. This year's major project was the Valentine's Day flower sale. Club members were rewarded with a spectacular luncheon at Crepe Daniel's. All in all, the French club had a profitable and exciting year.

EOP Moves Ahead

The Education Opportunity Program is celebrating its 23rd year of structured efforts for the representation of minority and low-income families. This was the third year in a row the EOP has had a good turnout in their efforts to eliminate difficulties and problems confronting minorities. The EOP has also played a big part at Foothill in helping minority students pursue their college careers.

Students Supply Service

"Exactly what is CSF?" Many curious students ask this question upon hearing of this particular organization. CSF is the California Scholarship Federation open to all students with a 3.0 average and a one dollar yearly membership fee. It is an organization that provides public services, such as, trick or treating for UNICEF, holiday food drives, and the Toys for Tots. In addition to providing services to the community, CSF took part in speech contests, raised money for college scholarships, and hosted the annual CSF conference in May at Foothill. A record number of students were guided by Mr. Wayne Milton, Advisor; Jack Killman, President; John Rizzardo, Vice-President; Lyndale Hullum, Secretary; Chris Maio, Treasurer; and Michelle Maguire, Historian.

VICA — It's Not Just a Club . . .

This was another outstanding year for one of Foothill's most prestigious clubs The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America was led by Bill Grewell, president; Pam Jacobs, Vice-President; Dale Taylor, Secretary; Stacey Johnson, Treasurer; Diane Beeken, Club Representative; Bill Wickham, Historian; and Robert O'gorman, Reporter. The club held its annual new member barbecue swim party indoors due to uncompromising weather conditions. The weather, however, didn't put a damper on the occasion, they just played volleyball instead! Other activities included a leadership day with schools from all over California, and Regional and State competitions.

Future Scientists On The Move

This year's Biology club was as adventurous and as exciting as always. The club members sacrificed that little extra time taken away from their Saturdays to explore exciting new horizons with the club advisor, Ms. Linda Dixon. The year got off to a breathtaking start, and breathtaking is the perfect word. The group spent the day hiking the trails of Muir Woods in Marin County. Soon after recouperating, the club journeyed to the Malakoff diggings in Nevada City where the students were well informed about the history of Hydraulic mining, followed by a visit to the Empire State Mine.

These frolicful and educational adventures were made possible by the hard planning of the Biology club advisors, President Jackie Mahoney, Vice-President Mardi Huckabay, and Secretary Michelle Hoffman.

The World of "What if"

Foothill's Creative Writing club spent the school year improving their writing abilities. This group of talented young artists met with Mrs. Vorce on Tuesdays, every several weeks, to obtain constructive criticism about their writing. They all shared their insight with one another to further expand their existing knowledge of writing.

Other activities were listening to poet speakers, observing instructional movies, and designing sweatshirts to sell. The club, furthermore, helped to publish the Creative Writing Magazine put out at the end of the year.

FBLA

Foothill's Future Business Leaders chapter is presently in its third year of activity. The majority of the students active in the club are those upperclass people planning to pursue business or vocational careers in the future.

Wayne Bennett, president, is an active leader and participates in many clubs and sports at Foothill. This year the club received special recognition from the Sacramento County Office of Education for their efforts in the Career Mentor Program.

Foothill's Future Health Professionals explored many new areas of medicine during the club's second year of existence. During November '86, they sponsored the Great American Smokeout, which was designed to aid smokers in breaking their habit. The program received much enthusiasm and support from the students who attended the rally.

The club visited various hospitals where they were given tours, and were able to observe some of today's new technology used by the medical staff.

Every morning at 8:45, these hip players go into action. They are the elite of all the band musicians at Foothill High School. With Mr. William A. Adams as their leader, these people play through second period everyday. But the real satisfaction comes when they get a superior rating at the Golden Empire Music Festival where they compete against other high schools. Music students must audition and have at least one year of Concert Band in order to perform for the Wind Ensemble.

THE PEPPER UPPERS

The Pep Band did a great job of getting Mustangs pepped up at basketball games. These dedicated musicians worked long and hard on their own time after school. The Pep Band made athletic events fun by punctuating the spirit moves and entertaining us during half time. They were too modest to "toot their own horns," but a great many students and faculty at Foothill believe they were an essential part of our Mustang spirit.

SINGING THAT JAZZ

The Foothill Jazz Choir performed at the Capitol Jazz Festival in competition with Northern California groups. They also performed for various activities at school, including the annual "Pops" concert. Some of the tunes performed include: Melba's Blues, Save the Bones for Henry Jones, and Avenue "C". The group was organized and met after school to sing contemporary jazz tunes.

A March To Victory

The Marching Band did a first class job this year not only performing for halftime, but also serving as the pep band up in the stands. Under the direction of Mr. Bill Adam and Drum Major Michelle Allen, the FHS marching band and flag team marched their way to victories in several competitions that they participated in throughout the year. In the Las Plumas Band Festivo, Michelle Allen took 2nd place drum major and the band took 2nd place as well as the Sweepstakes for marching and maneuvering.

The Del Oro Band Spectacular left the band with 4th place, and they got their revenge by taking 1st place in the Lodi/Tokay Band Review. At the Woodland Christmas Parade, Michelle A-len took 5th place drum major, the I.D. Unit took 3rd place, the tall flags took 2nd place, and the band won 1st place as well as the Sweepstakes for best overall unit. The Marching Band certainly had a victorious year that was worth celebrating.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council was extremely busy planning the activities for the school year. The main duties of a class officer consisted of representing their class, planning social activities and working with other officers to provide for a better high school. This year all of the classes had a full representation. Unlike the past, the once dominate women gave way to the sudden presence of men active in council affairs. Although the student council received only marginal support from the student body, the council members were able to plan enough activities to make the year memorable.

Celebrating Faculty and Staff

Ever since Foothill High School opened back in 1965, our outstanding faculty has played a major role in the success of Foothill. Foothill has had a history of superior staff members ever since its very beginning. Faculty members have influenced the students to strive harder and to do their best at all times.

Foothill Welcomes Counselor

Foothill High School welcomed a new freshmen counselor, Mrs. Fran Seifert. Mrs. Seifert was born and raised in the state of Utah where she graduated from Utah State University. She came to California and held a position as a mathematics teacher at Del Paso Jr. High for sixteen years and taught another five years at Don Julio Jr. High.

Counseling was something Mrs. Seifert always wanted to do and now her dream has been fulfilled. When asked how she felt about being the freshmen counselor she replied, "I'm really enjoying it. I have a very good class."

Welcome to Foothill, Mrs. Seifert, and good luck with your new profession.

Teachers on Teachers

A school is only as good as its teachers. The teachers I work with are dedicated, conscientious, caring people who work very hard to help their students succeed in school.

Teachers on Juniors

That's what cool is really about.

Juniors are the beginning of very interesting, thoughtful students.

Most juniors begin to face facts, but those whose priorities are elsewhere tend to quit or give up, the majority, however, are beginning to "grow up"!

Teachers on Freshmen

T-A-R-D-Y, honey you ain't got no alibi; you're tardy; your Mama says you're tardy; your teacher says you're tardy; you're tardy!

I hope all my freshmen come and visit me when they are seniors so that I can find out who they really are.

Dedicated Workers

Without our hard working and dedicated staff, Foothill High School would be in a state of chaos. These staff members are custodians, cafeteria workers, secretaries, and instructional aides. They keep our campus clean, and the school running smoothly. They deserve our thanks and our gratitude for doing such a fine job. Keep up the good work!

The End ...

High school is full of friends, laughter, rallies, Homecoming, Senior Ball, boyfriends, girlfriends, football games, and other things of less importance, like homework and classes. But how could you remember everything that happened throughout the year? Like, who was the Varsity quarterback? or who won the Homecoming rally? Well, that's our job. We make each year a memory that you can keep forever. That's what yearbooks are all about. Maureen, the staff, and I did our best to produce a book that we hope you enjoy, and if you don't, well the world is full of job openings for yearbook critics. I know there are plenty of mistakes, and if your name is misspelled, or you happened to get a new name, for that I apologize. Being Editor was fun! Thanks to Mr. Stoneking and Cindi for all your support! Maureen, good luck next year. Thanks staff!

Deniece Vargas
Editor

Every year the yearbook staff does its utmost to complete a yearbook with ideas new and different than those of previous years. We have done our best to come up with original and creative ideas, and in presenting this book we proudly feel that we have been successful. Our goal was to create a book that not only pleases the eye with colorful designs and pictures, but also draws attention to the many stories that have been carefully written and rewritten.

This year's staff consisted almost entirely of new members and got off to a rather slow start. With the expert advice of Mr. Stoneking, however, we were able to overcome any obstacles or confusion we may have had.

High school is an experience that is looked back upon for many years to come and yearbooks are for preserving memories that may have been forgotten and for starting those memories with others. Though this book is not without its errors, we hope we have succeeded in meeting all your expectations of what a great yearbook should be. Now that the 1986-87 school year is also a memory, we can all recall that it was a year to be "celebrated" with a bang!

Meeting the Needs of the People of our friend ...

In Memory

Andy Waugh

A zest for living ... sharing a laugh, a word of encouragement ... testing limits ... boundless energy to make the moment memorable ... an expression of caring ... a curve in the road ... precious, fragile life ... the spirit lives forever.

Andrea,

It was great having you in 3 periods, have a rad summer and stay out of trouble.

Love

andrew

Have a killer summer and party Hardy and get your damn car put back together.

Randy

PS
If ever see you again I'll hit you with your head xxx.

ANDREW;
WELL IT WAS FUN IN ALGEBRA, BUT SOMETIMES BORING! ANYWAY HAVE A GREAT SUMMER AND TRY TO STAY OUT OF CAR CRASHES WITH YOUR 240. BY THE WAY WHAT COLOR IS YOUR 240 ANYWAY? KEEP IN SHAPE FOR FOOTBALL 'CAUSE I'M GONNA BE IN GOOD SHAPE TO KNOCK SOMEONES BLOCK OFF.

YOUR FRIEND,
ERIC WEBER

andrew,
Well, you're a big junior now how does it feel. I will probably see you around this summer in one of your Z's. Which one? Who knows. I'd race you but I like to keep my dignity. Stay sweet and good luck with the women this summer you know what they say about men and fast cars. If not I'm not telling
